

Dramatic Photos Taken During Action As Canadian Corvettes Batter U-Boat

Forced to the surface and battered by gunfire, the U-boat is shown here wallowing helplessly on the surface as the attackers H.M.C.S. Fennel, H.M.C.S. Chilliwack and the R.N. destroyer Icarus, close in. This photograph was taken by Lieut. H. E. Conyers of Montreal from the deck of H.M.C.S. Chaudière.

From the quarterdeck of H.M.C.S. Chilliwack, Engine-room Artificer Fred Hall of Toronto, took the above photo, as one of the Germans scrambled out of the conning tower while other members of the sub's crew can be seen in the water and on the stern of the sinking U-boat.

So close did H.M.C.S. Chilliwack, one of the attacking ships, come to the U-boat that the men in the Canadian corvette could see the expressions of terror on the faces of their German adversaries. Chilliwack battered the U-boat with gunfire and most of the crew finally abandoned her. The submarine eventually sank. This photo was taken by AB. Laurence S. Carre of Levis, Quebec. See Page 9 for story and other pictures. (R.C.N. Photos).

Allies 14 Miles From Rome's Outskirts

Canadians Advance On Frosinone To Cut Off Nazis

By SID FEDER

NAPLES (AP)—The 5th Army fought Germans today barely 14 miles from Rome and the British 8th Army, including Canadian infantry and armor, smashed into the outskirts of Frosinone. British troops of the 5th Army advanced to a point just south of coastal Pescara Nuova, 14 miles south of Rome.

To reach Frosinone's outskirts the 8th Army troops of Lt. Gen. Sir Oliver Leese advanced on the Via Cassilina (Highway 6) on a broad front. Frosinone is a provincial capital, 43 miles southeast of Rome.

The Canadians pressed on toward Frosinone, important junction of two highways along which the Germans can retreat from the Liri Valley.

Allied artillery pounded the Via Cassilina in the Valmontone area, 20 miles from Rome, forcing the enemy to depend partly on second routes.

In the critical area of the Rome line generally 15 to 20 miles south of the Eternal City, enemy defenses were stubborn.

At some points west of Velletri, the Allies were within six miles of the Pope's summer home at Castel Gandolfo.

The loss of Velletri would cripple seriously the Nazi efforts to maintain the present front guarding Rome.

Boring away on the left flank, the British have crossed the Mole River all along the coastal sector. They worked their way through the village of L'Americo, on the coast, 18 airline miles from the mouth of the Tiber, and also occupied Ardea, 2 1/2 miles east and slightly south of Campo Lemini, coastal terminus of the German fortress wall extending through Velletri to Valmontone, key to the Via Cassilina, and 20 miles southeast of Rome.

U.S. troops fought into the outskirts of Villa Crocetta, just southeast of the bulwarked town of Lanuvio, in the Alban Hills, 16 miles southeast of Rome.

The British-Canadian 8th Army, with which at least one Canadian division is fighting, wheeled steadily forward against enemy rearguards through the mountains of central Italy, occupying the towns of Alfedena, Fontana, Strangolagalli, Pofi, Ceccano and Arpino, and closing to within four miles of Frosinone—a major exit for the desperately-placed Nazis on that sector of the front.

The enemy was reported to have thrown all available troops into an all-out effort to hold his last fortress wall before Rome—at least until the troops withdrawing in the face of the 8th Army can make good their escape.

It is now apparent that months were taken in preparation of this steel and stone shield barring the way to the Eternal City. Unofficial opinion was expressed that only a mighty drive would split it open.

Artillerymen Used As Infantry

Battlefront advances said the Hermann Goering motorized division had been built up to full strength and that artillerymen and service troops had been thrust into the line as infantry, while Field Marshal Gen. Albert Kesselring sought to withstand 5th Army pressure. German counterattacks were spearheaded by tanks and self-propelled guns.

A front line report by Associated Press War Correspondent Daniel de Luce said the U.S. forces, although heavily opposed in the Valmontone sector by the Goering division, still were shelling Highway 6 by daylight and that only limited enemy traffic was slipping through during the night.

This artillery block does not trap the German 10th Army withdrawing from the Liri valley. Eastward from Valmontone a series of lateral roads affords the enemy good escape routes to the north, but these are under constant and heavy air attacks.

B.C. Shipyards Get $10,000,000 Order

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Sun in a newspaper story this afternoon said "new construction worth $10,000,000 in construction of five maintenance-type ships have been awarded to West Coast Shipbuilders Ltd." in Vancouver. Maintenance ships are of 10,000-ton construction and carry workshops for repair purposes.

Russians Smash German Attacks

LONDON (AP)—German attacks north of Iasi in Romania continued today, Moscow announced tonight in a broadcast communique which said the Nazis had thrown large forces of tanks and infantry into the battle and suffered heavy losses. All the attacks were repulsed, the broadcast said, and during the day's fighting "our troops destroyed 27 German tanks and brought down 58 enemy planes."

Shimushiri Bombed

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. airmen, reaching ever closer to Japan, battered Shimushiri Island, less than 1,000 miles from Tokyo, in one of a series of four attacks on Japanese bases in the north Pacific Kurile Island chain Monday, the Navy announced this afternoon. Matsuwa also was attacked.

Planes Spot Fires

PRINCE GEORGE, B.C. (CP)—Forestry officials began an aerial reconnaissance of north-central B.C. today after reports indicated the forest fire situation in the area had grown worse. They flew as far north as Sifton Pass, 300 air miles north of Prince George.

No Statement Yet On Inner Reserves

OTTAWA (CP)—Answering G. G. McGeer, L. Vancouver-Burrard, Finance Minister, today in the Commons this afternoon said he did not have ready a statement on the inner reserves of the chartered banks of Canada.

4 Newsmen Taken In Yugoslavia

LONDON (AP)—The Germans have captured two news correspondents and two photographers who recently reached the headquarters of Marshal Tito to cover news of the Yugoslav army of liberation, it was announced tonight.

One of the correspondents—Stoyan Pribichevich of Time and Life magazines—subsequently escaped. John Tibbot of Reuters, British news agency, still is believed held along with two photographers whose names were not announced pending notification of their next of kin.

Saw Shot Fired

VANCOUVER (AP)—Arne P. Tyvand testified in the B.C. Supreme Court here today he saw Albert Barilla, 25, fire the shot that resulted in the death of Wellington Wallace, 38, Barilla is on trial on a murder charge in connection with the shooting of Wallace in the downtown Graycourt Hotel, April 2. The prosecution closed its case today.

Hundreds Rescued From Vessel Off California

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Liberty ship Henry Bergh went aground on the Farallon Islands early today with more than 1,000 passengers aboard, the U.S. 12th naval district announced. Hundreds took to the water in life jackets and others were put off on rafts. They were being rescued by destroyers and patrol boats this afternoon. There was no report of casualties. Fog and rain were blamed for the mishap.

The Farallons are 30 miles west of the Golden Gate.

The navy said several hundred passengers, presumably all male naval personnel were put ashore on the Farallons. Others were taken aboard rescue ships and brought to the navy's receiving station at Treasure Island in San Francisco Bay.

Rescue ships were sent from the shore stations under the western sea frontier which was conducting the operations.

By noon, about 200 passengers were landed here.

Cloudy Over Strait

LONDON (AP)—Scattered clouds hung over Dover Strait today, but an early haze lifted during the forenoon and visibility was fair.

A strong northeasterly breeze rippled the sea and sent the temperature down, the mercury standing at 55 degrees in the sun at 9 a.m. and 57 in the shade.

Toward noon the weather changed, with banks of cloud rolling in from the French coast and hiding the sun at times. The breeze dropped off, but the temperature remained moderate.

Wilby Loses Appeal

VANCOUVER (CP)—The B.C. Appeal Court today dismissed the appeal of Ralph M. Wilby, alias Alexander Douglas Hume, from a judgment of Chief Justice Wendell Farris refusing to interfere with his extradition to New York on larceny charges involving $275,984.

Wilby, a former employee of William T. Knott Corp. Inc. of New York, was ordered extradited by Judge J. J. Shandley in County Court here, and the order was upheld by Chief Justice Farris.

This afternoon Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane set 10 Saturday morning at Victoria as the time for hearing of a second habeas corpus application.

Urged to Stay Away

VANCOUVER (CP)—An appeal will be made to the Provincial Government Publicity Bureau to ask people to delay visiting British Columbia until after the war, it was revealed today following a conference between civic representatives and railway department officials here.

Eire Returns 24 Valerists To 15 Others

DUBLIN (CP)—Premier Eamon de Valera and his Fianna Fail party, tonight appeared assured of another term in office as additional general election results became available.

Standing at 8 p.m. was: Fianna Fail 24, Fine Gael 7, National Labor 2, Farmers 3, Independents 3.

The Fine Gael, led by Gen. Richard Mulcahy, is the chief opposition party.

Latest returns showed six De Valera ministers had been re-elected.

Sub Threatens To Torpedo Ship Carrying Refugees

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A German submarine stopped the Portuguese passenger liner Sepa Pinto carrying refugees in mid-ocean last Friday, took two U.S. citizens prisoners and threatened to torpedo the vessel, the 4th Naval District announced this afternoon.

The submarine crew took all 385 passengers and crewmen off the vessel and then, after they had spent seven to nine hours in lifeboats, decided against torpedoing and permitted the vessel to continue to Philadelphia.

The refugees—Europeans bound for Canada—were traveling under the sponsorship of the American Joint Distribution Committee.

SEIZED, THEN RELEASED

The navy statement disclosed that one of the first demands of the German U-boat captain was for Camilo Grande Perez, 24, native of Canada and a British citizen (home town not stated), who was one of the passengers.

The captain threatened to torpedo the Sepa Pinto when Perez went to his cabin and failed to reappear. He was subsequently found, however, and taken to the submarine, but was released shortly afterwards.

Passengers aboard the Sepa Pinto included 80 Jewish refugees from Nazi-occupied countries en route to Montreal and Toronto.

Three persons lost their lives in the transfer between the Sepa Pinto and lifeboats.

Vatican Doubles Guard; Cuts Phones

LONDON (CP)—The Vatican has doubled the Swiss Guards around the gates and cut off telephone communication with the rest of the city of Rome, the Berlin radio said today. The broadcast added that all passes for permission to enter Vatican City had been canceled except for those in the possession of diplomats accredited there.

Salary Schedule For Civil Service Means Increases

Hon. George S. Pearson, provincial secretary, announced today the Executive Council has received a report from the special civil service committee appointed to consider readjustment of civil servants' salaries.

This report recommends the establishment of a series of salary schedules for the civil service in which every position in the service is classified and valued, with qualifications laid down for each position and with a minimum and maximum range of salary for each position and with automatic increases over a period of years from the minimum to the maximum. The report involves a large number of increases which are retroactive to April 1 of this year, but the important feature of the change is the fixing of salaries for each position and the graduated automatic increases. A report was also received recommending the classifying and valuing of salaries of employees of the liquor control board on a similar basis to that of the civil service.

There still remains the institutional staffs and other employees not members of the civil service to be classified and valued. This will be proceeded with at once and any changes made will be retroactive to April 1 of this year.

Olson Negotiating For Saanich Site

H. B. "Barney" Olson, proprietor of the Willows Ice Arena recently destroyed by fire, announced today he had opened negotiations with Reeve E. C. Warren of Saanich for property at Douglas and Cloverdale on which to rebuild the ice arena.

Looking over the municipal property today, Mr. Olson said: "It looks very satisfactory."

He announced further negotiations would proceed with the Saanich Council at a meeting at 8 tonight.

Although no definite proposition had been made by Oak Bay, he said "they are nibbling at it, too."

Mr. Olson would make no statement of what Reeve Warren was offering, although it is presumed the municipality will offer a plot of land for $1 and free water and possibly free the land of taxes. (See story page 8.)

'R.C.A.F. Hero' Gets 3 Months

James Francis Dennis Fleming, civilian charged with masquerading in the uniform of a flight lieutenant of the R.C.A.F. and with wearing the D.F.C. and North African Star to which he was not entitled, was sentenced to three months' imprisonment on each charge by Magistrate H. C. Hall in city police court today.

The sentences will run concurrently. "You deserve punishment, and you'll receive it," said Magistrate Hall before sentencing Fleming.

In regard to the second charge of wearing the D.F.C. and the North Africa Star, the magistrate said Fleming could not have got or created much trouble when wearing such notable decorations.

Fleming, still in the uniform in which he was apprehended and wearing the decorations, asked to say something after sentence was passed, but Magistrate Hall told him the case was settled.

$10,000,000 Fire Loss

NORANDA, Que. (CP)—There are at least 300 separate bush fires burning in the Quebec timberlands north, east and south of this mining centre and the timber loss so far has been estimated at more than $10,000,000.

Russians to Strike On D-Day With Army of 4,500,000

By CONSTANTINE BROWN

WASHINGTON, D.C.—After several weeks of rest, the Russian army is reported concentrating 300 divisions on a line from Lwow and Vilno, prepared to synchronize its attack against Hitler's European Fortress with the assaults of Russia's Allies in other sectors.

The Soviet Army is said to have moved up enormous quantities of supplies to feed thousands of guns and tanks awaiting the signal to strike.

British and U.S. high commands now feel confident this attack will develop as a full-scale operation and will be delivered with even greater power than heretofore.

CHANCE 10 USE PLANES

The Russians, who have been holding back the large number of planes received from United States and Britain, will now use them more extensively. Since the beginning of the Russian offensive 11 months ago the Red air force has played only a secondary role, lease-lend planes have been kept crated.

Explanation is that there has been no real opportunity to launch large fleets of bombers against the Germans, who adopted a flexible defensive strategy with plenty of ground behind them and few fixed targets.

CLOSE TO GERMAN CENTRES

Situation is different now. Russians are close to important German industrial centres in the east; they have been within the range of the Red bombers for some time, but it appears that the Russian general staff believes attacks against them should be made when the Red divisions begin their main assault.

Germany are reported to have made Brest Litovsk, heart of the first important German defence line, into a fortress stronger than Stalingrad.

4,500,000 AGAINST 3,000,000

Washington and London military quarters believe the Russian offensive will be undertaken with between 4,500,000 and 5,000,000 men. Thus the steamroller which was expected to give such spectacular results in the World War I and failed because of the lack of organization and supplies, might live up to its expectation 30 years later.

From available reports, the Nazis have about 3,000,000 men, available to meet the Red onslaught. It is hardly conceivable that the Berlin high command can hope to defeat the Russians. Its strategy is likely to be purely defensive.

The Nazis believe that if they succeed in preventing the Allies from breaking through the Atlantic Wall, effect of the Russian offensive will be reduced and disappointment in Moscow at the failure of her western Allies will permit Berlin diplomats to start "stalemate" peace negotiations.

According to neutral sources which have good contacts in Germany, Hitler's general staff has assured him the eastern front can be held although much ground in Poland will have to be given up. But his generals have convinced the Fuehrer that unless the British and American forces are checked, chances for a stalemate are nil and the Reich may just as well realize that the war has been definitely lost.

Spain Shipments To Germany Still Too Big, Says F.D.R.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Roosevelt is of the opinion Spain's shipments of supplies to Germany have not yet been reduced enough.

Prime Minister Churchill Wednesday spoke in the House of Commons in London what he himself called "kindly words" about Spain, saying that country had made a "contribution" to the United Nations' cause by resisting German pressure for an effort to take over Gibraltar and close the Straits and by "ignoring" obviously gigantic Allied preparations there before the North African invasion. He indicated a hands-off policy on Spanish internal affairs.

Mr. Roosevelt, at a press conference Tuesday afternoon, told reporters there essentially is no change in U.S. relations with Spain, but that the U.S. government is working along day to day on the subject.

He said he did not want anyone to make an international incident out of what he said. None of the United Nations, he observed, is entirely satisfied. The Spaniards have been sending things to Germany, he said, and although the volume has been cut down it has not been cut down enough, in his mind.

Curtin Explains Consultative Empire Proposal

By JACK BRALEY

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Curtin of Australia indicated at a press conference here today he felt there was a need for the creation in London of an Empire consultative body which would prepare background information and complete preliminary discussions leading to Empire conferences at which decisions would be taken.

Asked whether he was "completely satisfied" with the results of the recent London conference of prime ministers, Mr. Curtin looked at Prime Minister King at his side, and said the only man in that state of mind was the man "who sat on the right hand of the Almighty."

He said he was satisfied, however, "with the progress" which had been made.

"All I want to see is a continuity in the study of the various problems so that conferences will not start cold on various subjects," he declared.

Would Make Judges Retire at 70

By B. T. RICHARDSON

OTTAWA—More than 25 per cent of superior court judges in Canada are 70 years of age or over. This information is contained in a list supplied by Stanley H. Knowles, M.P., who has introduced a bill into Parliament dealing with the retirement of judges, and argued, in connection with his bill, that 70 years would be a suitable age of retirement for judges. Mr. Knowles' list contains the names and birth dates of 143 superior court judges. There are 28 of them between 70 and 75 years of age, and 11 more who are 76 years of age or more.

Youngest superior court judge in Canada is Mr. Justice Joseph D. Landry, who is 41 years and will be 42 on Aug. 8. He is a justice judge at Sherbrooke, Que. Mr. Justice Garon Pratte, a justice judge at Quebec City, is next youngest. He is 43 years of age. Oldest active judge in Canada is Mr. Justice W. R. Riddell of the Ontario court of appeal, who was 92 years of age on April 6.

'Tyrants' War Name Favored By F.D.R.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Roosevelt Tuesday suggested a new name for the war—the Tyrants' War.

The President told his press conference the name had been suggested to him two or three weeks ago and he liked it very much. Last week, taking a tip from a Washington Post editorial, the President suggested the coming military operations in Europe be known as a war of liberation rather than invasion.

Cheaper Chuck Roasts

OTTAWA (CP)—The Prices Board announced Tuesday night that housewives will be able to buy chuck roasts and other front quarter beef cuts about 4 cents a pound cheaper under new beef ceilings effective June 5.

The board said the retail cost of hind quarter cuts will be increased about 4 cents by an adjustment in price levels aimed at a better balance in meat consumption. The changes will apply to all parts of Canada.

Reasonable Price For Berries Backed

VANCOUVER (CP)—A reasonable ceiling price for strawberries to conform with costs of production was endorsed by the Consumers' Council of British Columbia at a meeting here Tuesday.

A report on an investigation by the executive into production and marketing costs following protests of B.C. growers against 1944 wholesale and consumer selling prices for strawberries, was read to the meeting.

Producers will be canvassed by the council to ascertain what they would consider an adequate return.

Fears were expressed that the federal government, in setting the 1944 ceiling prices, might be trying to force growers to sell to the canneries.

Flight of Kootenay growers whose product would not be ready for market until the second and reduced ceiling price will be in effect, was also given consideration by the delegates.

Detectives on talking to the boy found he was still asleep. They awakened him and took him home.

Lumber Worker Dies of Injuries

Charles W. Trevors, 29, Kisher Avenue, employee of the Spruce Products Ltd., Ogden Point, died in Royal Jubilee Hospital at 5.30 this morning as a result of injuries received Tuesday night when the Ross lumber carrier which he was driving on Government Street turned completely over.

He was rushed to the hospital where Dr. E. L. McNiven, who was called to attend him, discovered two skull fractures, one at the base of the skull, and the other of the right frontal bone. "He didn't have a chance," said Dr. McNiven today.

Dr. E. C. Hart, city coroner, was informed of the death and will order an inquest, but has not yet set a date.

Mr. Trevors, who was born in Folkestone, England, leaves his wife, Christina. Prior to joining Spruce Products he was a printer at the Times, and a popular member of the Times bowling team. An all-round athlete, he took part in many sports and at Spruce Products captained the softball team.

3 B.C. Naval Men Awarded D.S.C.'s

LONDON (CP)—Five members of the Royal Canadian Naval Volunteer Reserve have been awarded the Distinguished Service Cross, one received a bar to his D.S.C., and nine, including one of the D.S.C. winners, have been mentioned in dispatches, the Admiralty announced today.

Winners of the D.S.C.: Lt.-Cmdr. Digby R. B. Cosh, Ottawa; Lieuts. R. B. Wadsworth and C. R. Parker, Toronto; Lieuts. C. Burke and J. D. Maitland, Vancouver.

Bar to D.S.C.: Lt.-Cmdr. G. W. Stead, Vancouver.

Cmdr. Cosh, who is with the fleet air arm, was honored for "good service in air actions." He had a part in the recent fleet air arm raid on the German battleship Tirpitz in Alten Fjord, Norway. Today's announcement said he also had received mention in dispatches.

Lieuts. Wadsworth and Parker received the award "for good work at Salerno" (Italy), while Lieuts. Burke and Maitland were honored "for good service in the coastal forces in the Mediterranean."

Cmdr. Stead received a bar to his D.S.C. "for good work at Salerno." He received the D.S.C. in October, 1942, for minesweeping at Malta.

More Jap Troops Drive On Changsha

CHUNGKING—Throwing in fresh reinforcements in their drive on Changsha, the Japanese have made headway against Chinese troops battling to hold off the invaders from the thrice-ravaged provincial capital, field dispatches reported today.

A column protecting the left flank of the main body, which was moving down the trackless stretch of the Canton-Hankow railway, was reported to have advanced 11 miles south of Tung-cheng.

In Hupeh province, Japanese Tuesday captured Kunguan, which served as one of the bases of the drive on Chungteh last year.

In Honan province, the Chinese said their troops had fought into the outskirts of Paofeng, about 70 miles south-southwest of

$711,000 Potato Subsidy Payments
Investigated By Board In New BrunswickBy NORMAN M. MACLEOD
Victoria Times Staff
CorrespondentOTTAWA—Subsidies in excess of $500,000 paid the past year to potato growers of New Brunswick are under investigation by Wartime Prices and Trade Board officials.T. L. Daniels, chief investigating officer of the board, is back here today from New Brunswick, where he had been making a spot inquiry into reports which, if substantiated, promise to have far-reaching reverberations in the politics of the eastern province.Whether in his report Daniels will recommend refund of the subsidies by their recipients, or any legal action in the case, isnot known to high W.P.T.B. officials.It is reported that out of $711, 000 in subsidies to Canadian potato growers over the past year,
the payments in New Brunswick, said to amount in themselves to more than $500,000, were improperly made. The subsidy was intended to protect consumers rather than reimburse growers, and was to operate only when potato prices reached a certain level. However, certain wholesale distributors bought unnecessarily at levels which made the subsidy effective, and turned it over to the growers.The suggestion is that the distributors thus made "good fellows" of themselves with the growers—at the public expense.
Some dealers who refused to paya price sufficient to bring the subsidy into effect and merely offered the current market quotation, are reported to have been held up to criticism before the growers for their refusal to "cooperate" in securing the higher price.The situation was hinted in the Parliament last Friday, when Percy Black, M.P. for Cumberland, N.S., secured answers from the Departments of Finance and Trade and Commerce to a number of inquiries. He was told that, in addition to the $711,000
subsidy paid during the past year on domestic potatoes, the sum of $817,000 was paid in subsidizing 1,206,945 bushels of potatoes imported from the United States.to increase the price of the three beverages from 5 to 10 cents. The increase affected the low salaried worker.The increase, if necessary, should have been placed on foods,
particularly the better foods which would be ordered by the well-to-do, he said.Stanley H. Knowles, C.C.F., Winnipeg North Centre, said the Prices Board had failed to win the confidence of the people.The board should admit the problem was "terrific," and that the help and understanding of the people were needed. There had been a "silly" regulation against two-pant suits and against cuffs on trousers. These regulations had been removed after the National Liberal Federation meeting in Ottawa some months ago.Mr. Knowles said housewives found it hard to believe there had been no deterioration in quality.The board could well admit there had been deterioration in some cases. There never was an admission of error on the part of the board."Yet an order can be changed when a little Liberal pressure is put on," said Mr. Knowles.House members had complained of shortages of clothing for people in farming districts and for children, but always the reply had been that the "government is always quite efficient and doing a perfect job."Nova Scotia's Empty Beer Bottles Stir Discussion In CommonsOTTAWA (CP)—The empty beer bottle as precious to the brewer today as a full one is to the consumer, provoked practically the only lively discussion during Tuesday's quiet sitting of the Commons.From opposition members came the charge that the government had set up a "monopoly" in the handling of empty beer bottles in Nova Scotia.Speaking during examination of the war appropriation estimates of the Finance Department, Douglas Abbott, parliamentary assistant to Finance Minister Ilsley, said the Prices Board order had been passed to do away with duplicate transportation of bottles.Nova Scotia dealers had been exporting the empty bottles to central Canada while brewers in that province had to import new bottles from the central provinces. The two-way traffic was unjustifiable. The board's order prohibited export, but it did not prevent anyone from selling the empties to the two breweries in Nova Scotia.P. C. Black, P.C., Cumberland, N.S., said the government had by a son, C. C. J. Whitehead of Victoria.created the monopoly by appointing one W. B. Moriarty to control the shipment of empty bottles in Nova Scotia.Mr. Moriarty could make a profit of from $50 to $100 on every car of empty bottles shipped. In a year the value of containers used in Nova Scotia was about $1,000,000 and profits from the handling of empties was about $100,000.

NAVAL RULES

Navy Minister Macdonald introduced a naval service bill designed to consolidate present naval rules and regulations in one volume and adopt them to Canadian present-day legal terminology. The bill was given first reading.Munitions Minister Howe said householders and apartment block owners who converted from light fuel oil—the type ordinarily used for domestic heating—to coal, may not convert back, because of a continued shortage of light oil.
There had been an easing in the supply of heavy fuel oil, but this affected only the operators of large heating plants.Robert Fair, S.C., Battle River, Alta., urged that the Prices Board reduce the price of tea, coffee and milk in restaurants. He said restaurants were allowed last yearMajority Feel Service Girls Should Get Same Pay As MenBy CANADIAN INSTITUTE OF PUBLIC OPINIONTORONTO—When, as has happened repeatedly during the current session of Parliament, some private members argue that women serving in the Canadian armed forces should receive the same basic rates as are paid the men in the services, they are expressing the views of some 57 per cent of the Canadian voters at large, latest Gallup poll shows.In spite of the fact that last July, basic pay of active service women was raised some 16 per cent, to within about 80 per cent of men's basic pay, a majority of the Canadian public appears to feel that this is not enough.In making the survey, opinion reporters for the Gallup poll asked a scientifically constituted cross-section of the population
this question:"Do you think that women who join the armed forces should or should not receive the same rate of pay as men who join thearmed forces?" Should get same pay, 57 per cent; should not get same pay, 34 per cent; undecided, 9 per cent.While constituting a majority,
the 57 per cent figure is not as large as that resulting from a question about equal pay for women in war industries. In the case of war workers, an earlier Gallup poll showed, 79 per cent of the voting population felt that women who replace men in industry should receive the same pay as male workers.Surprising as it may seem, the percentage of women who favor the principle of equal pay in the armed forces for men and women is not very much larger than the percentage of men:

	Men	Women
For equal pay	53%	60%
Against equal pay	38%	38%
Undecided	9%	10%

The younger generation of voters (those between 21 and 29 years of age) shows the largest majority (63 per cent) in favor of eliminating the "double standard" from army pay envelopes.On the basis of latest enlistment figures, which place the total number of women serving in the Canadian armed forces at around 42,000, a general increase of, say, 25 cents a day would add something like $3,800,000 to the annual payroll for the armed forces.

YOUTH'S OPPORTUNITY

REGARDLESS OF THE PARTY SIGNIFICANCE of its deliberations, the obviously successful gathering of the Young Liberals of Canada at Winnipeg is an encouraging sign in itself, not only because it bears witness to a commendable interest in the nation's future, but also because it serves notice that the young people of the Dominion intend to apply their talents intelligently to the solution of the problems they will be called upon to face in the coming years. Conventions of this kind naturally produce a prolific crop of resolutions of a general and non-controversial character. But they also furnish unrestricted opportunity for the production of ideas; and never in the history and life of the nation was it more desirable and necessary for new thought and new concepts of individual responsibility to be brought to the surface and aired in a practical atmosphere than now.

Not so very long ago it was the custom of the older members of the two main parties to frown upon the aims and aspirations of untried and inexperienced youth. This attitude of mind rightly belongs to another day; the time has come to review the cause of many mistakes in public policy which have helped to retard Canadian progress. None will argue that any particular party possesses all the remedial processes that will be necessary in the postwar years if Canada is to move hopefully toward her ultimate destiny. Well may all liberal-minded citizens of this country ask themselves how much they have contributed to the realization of the dictum of Sir Wilfrid Laurier who, it will be remembered, once said that the 20th Century belonged to Canada.

The comprehensive and practical flavor of the discussions in which young men and young women engaged in their two-day meeting in Winnipeg, moreover, should serve as a reminder to all Canadians that unless they take an active part in the political and public life of their country, they must not be surprised if elements more interested in sectional and special privilege take the ball from their feet. Escape from healthy and progressive participation in the determination of the Dominion's role in the postwar world will not be found in the old and uninteresting complaint that politics is for the professional politicians. Many of the men and women who make Canadian laws today are the children or grandchildren of the men and women who sacrificed much in order that the foundations of our nationhood should be stable and lasting. Canada's youth must not ignore the challenge of those earlier achievements.

UNDER THEIR NOSES

ANOTHER INDICATION OF THE RISING spirits of the peoples of enslaved Europe comes in an announcement from The Netherlands Government Information Bureau in Montreal. It recites a daring feat of journalism—penalties for which are not disclosed—by a newspaper in occupied Holland. Although the journal in question, "De Schoonhovensche Courant," is officially controlled by the Nazis, the offending article bravely called upon the whole of The Netherlands nation to fight sternly against the Germans; and it proceeded to praise in enthusiastic terms the "British, American and Russian allies, who sacrifice themselves equally for Dutch liberty." For good measure the paper added: "We cannot beat Nazism without a struggle. Fascism is on its last legs. A few more blows and it will be beaten. Let us show we are worthy of freedom."

Reviewing the four years since "Hitler's gang, assisted by Mussolini's clique of traitors, invaded Holland," the newspaper explains that Fascism brought suffering and misery as soon as the use of the "honey-pot which sought to assure a firm Nazi footing in Holland" had failed. When this failure became apparent, it says, "new measures were taken which became increasingly more severe. Netherlands boys were forced to work for the German monster. The Netherlands military was sent back into captivity, while suffering in concentration camps was indescribable. Bludgeoning was practiced freely," the article continued, "but resistance grew. Several Dutch-Nazi leaders were justifiably killed by fighters for liberty. Rationing bureaus were raided to provide underground workers with food. Attacks on trains, cutting of the German army's communication wires, and raiding of ammunition dumps were an important part of the struggle."

What has happened to the writer of the article may not be known for some time. The issue containing it was smuggled out of The Netherlands to Sweden and the Dutch underground reports that the act of publishing it is being hailed throughout Holland as a "dare-devil venture." Its language evidently achieved heights of bitterness and defiance only equalled by the clandestine press. It must have been all the more galling to the arrogant "balliffs" when they noted the tribute paid "to many officials and policemen who had worked well against the enemy"—and how "the arsonist's torch had worked hard." Newspaper people the world over will salute "De Schoonhovensche Courant" and its staff for their courage. How they "got by" with it should make an interesting sequel.

PATIENCE STILL A VIRTUE

SOME OPTIMISTIC FOLK ARE BEGINNING to think that when the Allied air forces have completely flattened the outer wall of continental Europe's Atlantic defences the Nazi oligarchy will order the withdrawal of Marshal von Rundstedt's armies to the old German frontiers without a serious fight. Nothing one can discover in quarters where reliable information exists supports any such pleasant theory. All suggestions of the kind are met with the prompt rejoinder that very few, if any, of the Allied commanders know what is really below the surface of the outer rim of the ground from which beach landings will be met, or what may suddenly make its appearance elsewhere for 20 to 50 miles inland.

The more conservative of the realists point to what such a retreat would involve and urge extreme caution when the wishful thinkers take the floor. They list the following: Almost complete abandonment of the U-boat war, the demoralization of the whole German army, the abandonment of immense industrial and labor services, the vast encouragement of Allied troops, and an increase of the air war. In other words, the enemy's dispositions and priorities, and his general line in propaganda, do not suggest any long voluntary withdrawal in the west. To be sure, there may be a sharp recoil; but that is another matter altogether. The military-logicians argue, regardless of whether the events may prove them to be wrong, that the enemy, having failed to gain a clear offensive decision, is now trying for a defensive one—because he knows that everything obviously depends upon it.

The layman, therefore, can consider the situation in which the German general staff finds itself, what it considers its prospects are, by posing these questions: Can the enemy hold his new groups of defended localities in the east, and spare sufficient forces for any necessary counterattacks? Can he frustrate the Allies in the west without having air superiority? Can he hold in the south? Can he keep up production and the home front morale in the face of an air bombardment, whose tempo has not yet reached its maximum, while the military issues are being decided? Nobody knows the answers. But they are nevertheless pertinent inquiries because, again, the whole issue depends upon unpredictable developments. About the only point on which the general public can be certain, however, is that the growing pressure from the skies is the essential process to hasten the day when the vast supplies of men and material now in readiness in the British Isles will move across the English Channel and the North Sea. Of the final verdict there is no doubt whatsoever. In the meantime ours must be the patient role.

SHADES OF CALGARY

MR. GRANT MACNEIL, C.C.F. MEMBER for Vancouver-Burrard in the provincial Legislature, is trying to help his party in the Saskatchewan campaign by telling the people of that province that British Columbia's opposition has no intention of initiating regimentation. On the contrary, he says, "we are trying to escape from regimentation," and "our aim is a grass-roots administration of affairs." Of course he is telling the good people on the prairies that "a victory in Saskatchewan would greatly encourage our party on the coast."

What Mr. MacNeil evidently has not learned, not even through his experience in the House of Commons at Ottawa or in the Legislature of this province, is that the electors of Saskatchewan take their politics very seriously because they are among some of the hardest-headed realists in the country. The member for Vancouver-Burrard might be able to get away with platitudes among his followers in this province; they are familiar with the "Grand Plan" of the C.C.F. party and repeat it, parrot-fashion, on every conceivable occasion.

It will not be surprising, however, if Mr. MacNeil and others of his persuasion who are taking part in the general election campaign in Saskatchewan are asked to explain specifically what they mean by the regimentation in British Columbia from which the Vancouver-Burrard member says they are "trying to escape." And it is quite likely that inquiries may be made of C.C.F. speakers in the central prairie province as to what kind of regimentation Mr. Harold Winch had in mind when he delivered his famous Calgary speech last November—when he announced "Socialism immediately." The voters of Saskatchewan have long memories.

WARTIME BOOM IN FURS

THE GREAT EXPANSION IN THE NATIONAL income and, particularly, the increase in the number of women who are now engaged in war production at exceptionally high pay have led to a sharp rise in the demand for all kinds of furs. As a result, fur prices have increased and, in some instances, are higher than ever before. Recently published was a table based on figures computed by the Hudson's Bay Company showing average prices received by ranchers and trappers for various furs.

According to this table, the price of beaver was $25.30 in 1920, $8.23 in 1935, $22.55 in 1942 and $40 in 1943. On the other hand, silver foxes, which sold at $246.46 in 1920, declined to $15.43 in 1940 and are at present selling at $40. Silver fox prices were lower in 1943 than in 1920 because of the sharp expansion which occurred after 1920 in the domestic breeding of silver foxes.

Domestic-bred mink and silver fox comprise about 60 per cent of the total furs auctioned off on the Montreal market. It is estimated that the production of silver fox pelts during the present year will be about 10,000 skins greater than last year's output of 135,000 pelts. It is quite evident that, so long as the national income is rising and a large number of women are employed at high wages in war factories, the demand for furs will continue unabated.

THE FALLACY OF SAFETY

THE VIEWS OF THE Empire centralizers in the British House of Lords are based on a notable and obvious fallacy. It is that the British Commonwealth, properly organized, and with United States friendship, will be safe, defensible and secure from the shocks of world wars. This fallacy was clearly expressed by Lord Elibank when he said "it is certain that after the war the British Empire and the United States alone will possess between them the requisite combination of power, prestige and resources to maintain world peace and to help restore world order out of world chaos." It was on this assumption that Lord Elibank first proposed an imperial cabinet for the Commonwealth and then an imperial war cabinet to co-ordinate war efforts.

This war proved, of course, that the British Commonwealth cannot defend itself from every conceivable combination of hostile powers. From Dunkirk to Singapore the lesson was written in destruction, flames and death. But it was not a new lesson. The British Empire, when it fought successfully, has always fought with allies, from the Middle Ages onward, through the Napoleonic wars and through the First World War. Its diplomacy, in fact, has been mainly concerned with the assurance of allies who might help to prevent war but, if war came, could fight with Britain.

After this war Britain's present enemies will have disappeared. For the time being the Commonwealth may appear quite safe; but a combination of enemies more powerful than that organized by Adolf Hitler could arise again if the world returned to the old race for power. If the British nations or the United States, or both in alliance, began a race for power under some such respectable slogan as the "Titan" theory, this attempt would produce, as certainly as a chemical reaction, a counterbalancing power elsewhere, and probably unify in time most of the great land mass of Europe and Asia against us—the most populated and potentially by far the most powerful area of the world. Neither the British Commonwealth nor the United States nor both together can guarantee the peace of the world. In this project Russia is an essential guarantor, and in the long run peace will require the adherence of all the leading nations, some of which are now crushed, but will rise again.

IT IS IN THE light of these facts that Lord Bennett's statement to the House of Lords is particularly interesting. He said:

"... One cannot understand this talk of an international patriotism rather than a patriotism of Empire. Part of our difficulties today arise from the fact that, for some strange reason I cannot describe, men of some importance in the state urge that we should not be bothered about patriotism of Empire, but rather concern ourselves with an international patriotism, that... various things so many of us hold dear as life itself should be treated as mere trifles and baubles and unimportant."

Misrepresentation of the views of those who advocate a world system of collective security could hardly go further than this. The advocates of such a system, who include men like Churchill, Eden, Roosevelt, Hull, Stalin and Chiang Kai-shek, are not abandoning as Lord Bennett fears, their national patriotism. Believing that a patriot should work for the preservation of his country, its people, its culture and tradition, these men are working for the only solution which will protect these things in the modern world. They are working for world peace.

The patriot who rejects the only possible means of world peace—a system of worldwide collective security—may be sincere, as Lord Bennett unquestionably is. He may excite more attention and admiration by appealing to a purely local and isolationist patriotism than the man who is working for the larger interests of the world, and hence of his own country. But in the end the kind of ingrown patriotism which assumes that any nation can be safe in an unsafe world, or prosperous in a depressed world, turns out to be the complete negation of patriotism.

LORD BENNETT TALKS contemptuously of "an international patriotism" as if it were inimical to the patriotism of a British citizen, as if it would sacrifice Britain for some vague, unwholesome, foreign cause—and as if the opposite kind of patriotism would protect Britain from all possible enemies.

International patriotism does not deny national patriotism but, on the contrary, protects it. And unless an international patriotism develops in the minds of men, unless they are ready to combine together in crushing out aggression wherever it arises, then the prospects of national patriotism will be poor indeed, as many patriots have discovered in China, Ethiopia, Austria, Czechoslovakia, Poland, France, Belgium, Holland, Russia and elsewhere. The prospects of the British Commonwealth will be equally poor. National patriotism is not enough in a world where all nations are bound together, cannot survive alone, cannot prosper alone and cannot sink into ruin without dragging their neighbors with them.

IT WAS WEDNESDAY

Can you please tell me what day of the week the 9th day of January in the year 1867 came on. This is to settle an argument between relatives and oblige a reader of the Victoria Times for the last 30 years.

Q—How fast does the earth travel around the sun?
A—About 1,600,000 miles every 24 hours, one round-trip a year.

Industry must be a virtue. Note how virtuous you feel after cleaning up the little jobs you've been neglecting.

Today's WAR NEWS Analysis

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

The Germans themselves have taken the initiative on the eastern front by making a heavy attack which has dented the Russian line north of Iasi, Romania.

While the full import of this move isn't yet apparent, it is significant as showing the importance Hitler attaches to the Balkans as the southeastern shield for his "Fortress Europe." Time will tell whether it's a big-scale assault to forestall the impending Russian offensive. Moscow thinks it is merely to disrupt Russian troop concentrations.

The Nazi attack is particularly interesting since it comes on the heels of further moves by Hitler to compel Bulgaria to knuckle under. He is reported to have slammed his mailed fist down on the Sofia government's council table and demanded not only full war aid but severance of diplomatic relations with Moscow.

That puts Bulgaria on a tough spot and has increased the tension in an already taut Balkans, for Moscow more than once has warned Sofia to quit catering to the Nazi brigand. Moreover we have in Bulgaria the peculiar situation of a pro-Nazi government trying to help Hitler, while a great majority of the people have turned thumbs down on Germany and are demanding co-operation with their Slavic brothers, the Russians.

Things cannot continue long like that without a further upheaval in that cockpit of southeastern Europe. This could be the emergency which would force a reluctant Turkey to reconsider whether it should join the Allies in the war.

A break between Russia and Bulgaria might change the complexion of Turkey's position of neutrality. I think Ankara would be governed largely by an "if," and that would be Russia's wishes in the matter.

VICTORY LOAN HEADQUARTERS

Back on the Job

Yes, many life insurance men who during the past few weeks have sold millions of dollars of Victory Bonds, are back at their regular job. Imperial Life men are always prominent in Government loan campaigns.

Back at his own job, the Imperial Life man's work for Canada goes on and on. The dollars he encourages policyholders to invest in personal and family protection and future financial security, also help greatly in financing the war effort.

In Victory Bond and War Savings campaigns, the Imperial Life man is an important factor in national service. And, needless to say, he himself is a regular investor in these loans. Every day he contributes vital and essential aid to the war programme.

Senator A. L. Beaulieu of St. Jean Baptiste, Man., left, centre, is shown as he welcomed Hon. Ernest Bertrand, federal minister of fisheries, and other delegates to the Young Liberal convention at Winnipeg on May 27. Quebec sent the largest delegation, 90, to the meeting, which is being attended by a total of 246 men and women from the nine provinces.

R. Motherwell First President Of Young Liberals

WINNIPEG (CP)—Young Liberals of Canada headed for home today following a two-day convention which produced a new national organization based on "solidarity and deep attachment to Canada."

Name of the new organization, formed during Tuesday's closing session, will be the Young Liberal Federation of Canada.

First president elected is Richard Motherwell, 29-year-old farmer of Abernethy, Sask., and grandson of the late Hon. W. R. Motherwell, one-time federal minister of agriculture.

Other officers of the new body include national vice-presidents Charles A. Durand, 31, of Montreal, and Miss Mary Scullion, 24, of Edmonton.

Eighteen provincial vice-presidents will be named later. Each province will have a man and a woman on the national executive.

CHOICE OF CANDIDATES

Resolutions adopted by the convention include one urging that the Liberal Party give serious and immediate consideration to the nomination of working men candidates in labor constituencies in the next federal general election.

Another asks that the federal government, in co-operation with the provinces, institute a national health scheme which would impose no hardships on any income group or individual.

Almost 400 delegates from the nine provinces attended the convention. Saskatchewan and Quebec were represented by 82 and 76 delegates, respectively.

Senator Wishart McL. Robertson of Halifax, president of the National Liberal Federation, said the delegates had demonstrated their desire to get to the heart of problems that confront Canada and the world. "They have shown they have the courage to meet in a democratic way all these issues."

Girl Guide Notes

First West Victoria.—Friday's meeting opened with a tracking hike laid from Central Park. Doris Duffell and Yvonne Pierce, Tenderfoot, were the only guides successful in following the track to the finish. After the supper the guides sang songs, and rally games were practiced. Taps closed the meeting.

Dentists' Officers

Annual meeting of the Victoria Dental Society elected officers as follows: President, Dr. W. B. Milburn; vice-president, Dr. W. A. MacDonald; secretary-treasurer, Dr. R. J. O'Neill; executive committee, Dr. Roy A. Johnson, Dr. P. J. Rumball and Dr. F. H. Moore.

Guest was Dr. Roy Bier, oral surgeon of Winnipeg, who spoke on latest treatments of infections of dental origin.

Dr. William Bryce showed

some color films of Victoria and lower island.

Cups and prizes were presented to the winners in the tournament held by the society to Drs. Mercer, Gill, Calvert, Milburn and Capt. Rylands, C.D.C.

World Nutrition Discussed By Dr. L. B. Pett

"There is a great need for world organization of nutrition," said Dr. Lionel Bradley Pett, "and at the U.N.R.R.A. in Hot Springs, Virginia, plans were made which are hoped will materialize this summer for this world organization. It will see that all men in all countries will receive the best nutritional food pertaining to their own countries."
Dr. Pett is director of nutrition services at Ottawa, and spoke to a meeting in the Empress Hotel Tuesday, sponsored by the Victoria Nutrition Committee and the Victoria Home Economists.
"It was voluntary organizations such as the Victoria Nutrition Committee, and others like it in Canada that in taking a rough dietary survey of their own communities and sending them to the government, finally decided officials at Ottawa a nutrition expert was needed to handle the situation," he said. "Among other reasons for the study of nutrition was the rejection of so many men from the army, due to malnutrition."
In November of 1941, Dr. Pett, who was professor of biochemistry at the University of Alberta, was called to Ottawa to accept his present position, which is an entirely new branch of the government. This service is still operating on an emergency basis. It is hoped that in the next few years the plan which is now being outlined will be familiarized to many people.

Weddings

STEWART-MACDOWELL
The marriage took place in St. Michael and All Angels' Church, Prince George, May 16, of Maire Frances Elizabeth MacDowell, C.W.A.C., eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. L. MacDowell, Crofton, V.I., and Lieut. Douglas Bute Stewart, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Stewart, 2051 Runnymede Avenue. Capt. Stanley S. Rider, army chaplain, officiated.
The bride wore her uniform with a corsage bouquet of deep pink rosebuds and lily of the valley, and was attended by Mrs. Dorothy Dahmer. Lieut. Carl Dahmer was groomsmen.
The bridal party drove to the reception at the officers' mess in army cars, and there inspected a guard of honor. Floral decorations for the reception were sent by plane and included pink carnations, blue irises and lily of the valley. The wedding cake was sent from Crofton by the bride's mother.
After a honeymoon in Jasper, Lieut. Stewart returned to Prince George. Mrs. Stewart is now stationed in Victoria.

W.I. Delegates Hear Of Food Waste

VANCOUVER (CP)—Miss Alice Stevens, home economics convener of the British Columbia Women's Institutes, told delegates to the seventh biennial convention of the Institute here on Tuesday that almost 20 per cent of the food on this continent was wasted.
Miss Stevens emphasized the value of canning, dehydration and freezing to prevent such waste.
Miss Dorothy Lefebvre, associated professor of home economics at the University of B.C., told the convention that 180 of Canada's 660 trained dietitians were in the armed forces.
Mrs. B. F. Gummow of Peachland, B.C., president of the Institute, urged co-operation between rural and urban populations toward better mutual understanding in the postwar world. Mrs. Gummow suggested a scholarship fund for rural girls wishing to attend home economics courses at the University of B.C.
Mrs. V. B. Robinson of Penticton reported on Institute contributions to various charity funds and to war bond investments.

More Families Seek Welfare Aid

A marked upward trend in the number of families approaching the Family Welfare Association for help was noted by Mrs. A. J. Spurgin, secretary, at the last meeting. E. H. Wilson presided. Five hundred visits and interviews were reported during April.
Arrangements were made for a special meeting Thursday at 5 of the board in connection with the proposed club for aged people.
Appreciation was expressed of the report on the Canadian Welfare Conference held by Ord Butters. The intelligent interest shown in the problems facing Canada in the postwar period was considered, when it was taken into account that the 623 delegates attending the conference represented welfare agencies distributed throughout the length and breadth of the country. Mrs. C. D. Schofield expressed the hope that the findings of the conference would be carefully studied, and from these channels, the further action might be directed.

Case of Woollens Arrives in Britain

Victoria Depot of the Royal Naval War Comforts Committee has received a letter from The Missions to Seamen, London headquarters.
The secretary, Miss B. D. Gardner, says: "April 26, case No. 39 arrived this afternoon and the chief contents are 72 pairs Mellor gloves, 20 pairs sealboot stockings, 49 jerseys, 10 helmets and 160 pairs of socks. We are most grateful to you and your helpers for these useful and welcome gifts, which will be greatly appreciated by the recipients. Please note there is no demand now for 'turtle necks' and I should be glad if you would not send any more. We are also not needing any more helmets for the present as we have ample supplies and the demand for them has decreased considerably."
Following this letter, workers are requested to cease sending turtle necks and helmets. This also applies to scarves. More socks are needed, so workers should learn to make socks. Jerseys are much on sale, with high collars and long sleeves. The yellow-topped caps are still in demand.

Engagements

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Ellis, 340 Linden Avenue, announce the engagement of their twin daughter, Rosalee Mary Middleton, to Herbert Wainwright Edwars, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Edwars, 2383 Musgrave Street. The wedding will take place at 1.30 p.m., June 24, at the Bishop's House.

When Your Skin Needs Help Use Mercolized Wax Cream

The wise woman realizes that Nature alone will not continue to keep the skin flawless and young-looking for all time. It needs help. That is where Mercolized Wax Cream fills an important role in the beauty life of almost every woman. Skin responds so quickly to its daily care. Use it on your face, neck and arms, paying special attention to rough-looking elbows and upper arms so noticeable now with short sleeves. In your quest for loveliness, Choose Mercolized Wax Cream: Use Mercolized Wax Cream: Then enhance over your complexion. Use the Savonille Astringent. Dissolve Benzolite in one-half pint witch hazel to make a beneficial astringent lotion for daily skin care. At all drug and department stores.

Do You Feel Nervous And All on Edge?

People suffering from loss of appetite and run-down condition with symptoms of nerve strain often need a nerve and general tonic. Glycerol Lecithin with Vitamin B (1) supplies tonic ingredients. It is especially beneficial for convalescents. By increasing the supply of Vitamin B (1) in the system, appetite is improved and the system thereby built up to normal, if the loss of appetite was due to a deficiency of Vitamin B (1) in the diet. $1.00 at all Cunningham Drug Stores and other Drug Stores. In aid of the Colwood Convalescent Home, a dance will be held by the Junior Auxiliary to the Air Service, June 8, at the Crystal Garden. Dancing will be from 9 to 12. Plans were discussed at a social evening held Monday at the home of Miss Moyra Hacklett, Somass Drive. Miss Joan Fletcher and Miss Moyra Hacklett will convene the dance, and Miss Peggy Doran will be in charge of receipts.

Bethel No. 2, Order of Job's Daughters, elected the following officers: Doris Bleathman, senior princess; Mary Neilands, junior princess; Ruth McIlvride, guide; Elin Jones, marshal. Plans were made for a picnic at Shawigan Lake and a donation received from Esquimalt Chapter for the travelling fund. The tea planned at the home of Mrs. Giddy has been postponed. Installation ceremony will take place June 9.

Last meeting of the season of Zeta Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi Sorority, was held at the home of the director, Mrs. T. Hammond. President, Miss Frances Law, conducted the business period and received annual reports from members of the executive and committee conveners. The cultural program on "Drama" was conducted by Mrs. Hammond, who read the play "Hedda Gabler," by Ibsen. A round-table discussion followed. A wedding gift was presented to Miss Evelyn Hamilton who will be married shortly.

CHILDREN IMITATE PARENTS

Children are bound to be little copycats because, having no knowledge or experience or philosophy of life to guide them, they inevitably imitate those with whom they are brought in close contact. They cannot argue the ethics of a situation, or decide the wisdom of a course of action. They can only do as they see others about them doing and thus they form habits and opinions and acquire characteristics that become almost as much a part of them as their skin, and that they often spend years in trying to slough off.

There is no truer adage than the one that says "like father, like son; like mother, like daughter." There is no better way of judging people than by their children, for they are little mirrors of their fathers and mothers, little echoes of what they hear at home. If Johnny speaks grammatically and with a cultivated accent, you know he belongs to an educated family. Children's table manners are a dead giveaway as to whether their mother and father dine, or just gobble their food. Let half a dozen youngsters troop into your house and you can pick out those whose fathers and mothers are ladies and gentlemen just as easily as you could separate the sheep from the goats in a stock yard.

Now, of course, almost all parents are anxious for their children to be well-behaved and to grow up into being fine men and women, and there are few little tikes who are not swamped, from the cradle up, with pious admonitions about leading the higher life and practising all the virtues.

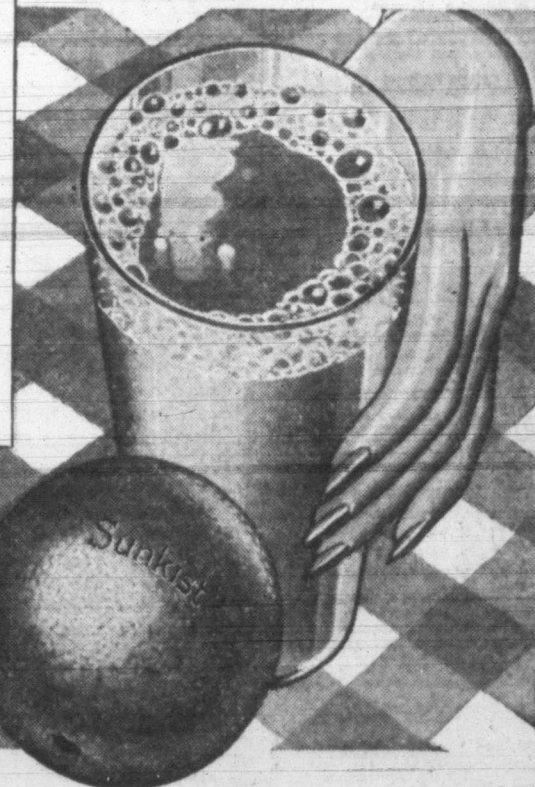

But, unfortunately, children have short memories, and good advice goes in one ear comes out of the other without making a dent in their consciousness. It is what they see that makes an indelible impression on them, and so it is folly for Mom and Pop to urge them to walk the straight and narrow road unless they are pace-makers on it themselves.

The Stagette Club will hold its annual banquet and election of officers at the Empress Hotel June 5. Annual convention of the clubs across Canada will be held at Prince Albert, Sask., Sept. 3. It was announced at a meeting of the club at the home of Miss Beth Walker, Joseph Street, Monday evening.

Add health to breakfast!

A whole grain cereal with milk, eggs and toast gets you off to a good start with many essentials. Yet it's not a balanced breakfast... because it falls 'way short on vitamin C which you need each and every day.

But try the same breakfast—and add a 6-ounce glass of fresh orange juice! It supplies your full daily quota of Vitamin C. And oh boy!—how that brisk, bracing flavour of real California orange juice whets your appetite—and starts your morning singing!

*Canadian Gov't Standard.

Delicious orange juice is one of the best everyday sources of vitamin C. And it's vitamin C which helps protect your teeth and gums. The truth is that everyone gains many healthful benefits from drinking orange juice.

A 6-ounce glass of orange juice provides your average daily requirements of vitamin C... as well as useful amounts of the B vitamins, calcium and other minerals.

No wonder orange juice is first on millions of breakfast tables. If you miss out at breakfast, enjoy oranges in cool salads and desserts, or as a lunch-box or between-meal snack.

Saanich May Offer Free Land, Water For Ice Arena

Plans for replacing the Wil-lows ice arena by the erection of a building by private interests in Saanich were discussed by the Saanich Council Tuesday night when Reeve E. C. Warren put his suggestions to the council at a session in camera after the regular meeting.

The reeve at the regular meeting did not indicate what his plans were, but Councillor George Austin, Ward 4, announced: "I knew of a suitable lot in Saanich, with adequate parking space, I would sell it to him (Barney Olson) for $1, and give him free water for 99 years."

"I'm not prepared to go as far as Councillor Austin," said Reeve Warren, "but I'll make certain recommendations to the council in committee later."

The discussion followed reports by Councillors Robert Noble, Ward 2, and William C. Kersey, Ward 6, on the meeting Saturday to discuss arena plans.

Reeve Warren, in discussing plans for a civic centre, which came under discussion at the same time, said he believed taxpayers would vote down plans for buildings owned by the city and the adjoining municipalities.

"It would be an asset to the city—not us," said the reeve.

He noted Canada faced a probably unprecedented period, and indicated any municipality would do well to enter any long-term obligations with caution.

SCHOOL VOTE JUNE 17

Saanich ratepayers will vote June 17 on a $102,500 money by-law to provide for erection immediately of one new school and several other school buildings and renovation of other schools.

The council Tuesday passed the by-law at first reading, and set the date of the election. Wilfred Greene was named polling officer. The ballots will be cast as at municipal elections.

The by-law provides for raising the money at 3 per cent interest, the lowest rate ever attempted by Saanich, or any municipality in B.C., according to Mr. Greene. It is the same rate as paid by the federal government on Victory Bonds.

Mr. Greene said some interest was being taken by financial houses and other municipalities in the success of the proposed issue of bonds payable in 20 annual instalments.

Trustee M. P. Paine thanked the council for the speed with which it had expedited the by-law once an agreement was reached.

HITS ROAD POLICY

Creation of Beach Drive in Oak Bay and not Marine Drive in Saanich as a secondary highway to be maintained by the provincial government will be protested to the government by Saanich.

The resolution will be forwarded to Victoria, Esquimalt, and Oak Bay councils, the municipal body at Sidney, and to Norman Whittaker, K.C., Saanich M.L.A., for endorsement.

"I don't like seeing this municipality slighted in this way," said Reeve Warren.

He said Saanich had asked for the same consideration for Marine Drive as Beach Drive, which was in extremely good shape, and in one of the richest municipalities in B.C. He described the whole Marine Drive as of definite value as a tourist attraction.

LAND SALES APPROVED

Approval of land sales were given for four lots to Mrs. D. D. Graham at $50 each a lot on Brett Avenue to Agnes G. Hubbard for $35, and for four lots at Lucas and Tuxedo Drive for $100 each to Jessie Lillian Little. Several other offers were tabled.

Councillor J. L. Hobbs was re-appointed Saanich Council representative to the Royal Jubilee Hospital board.

Appointment of T. T. Hill as poundkeeper was approved.

Tender of Margison Bros. of $149.00 for printing of 18,000 tax bills was approved. Councillor Noble asking whether the firm was a union shop. He said he would investigate, and if it were not he would want his negative vote recorded.

Letter of thanks from the National War Finance Committee for Saanich's contribution in the success of the sixth loan was received and filed. G. S. Yardley, organizer, reported Saanich outwards had contributed $279,750.

S. V. Yanda was granted permission to erect a combination store and home on Burnside Road.

Half-Hour Silence

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The western defence command issued the following statement Tuesday night: "The Los Angeles fighter wing ordered a radio silence in the Los Angeles area at 7.05 p.m. today (Tuesday) when unidentified aircraft were reported approaching from off shore. The radio silence was ended at 7.38 p.m. when the aircraft were identified as friendly."

Kiwians Told Value of Research

Few important decisions are made in business or government without research, Walter E. Elliott of Toronto, told the Kiwanis Club Tuesday, as he gave case histories of marketing research in action, both in Canada and the United States.

President of Elliott-Haynes, Limited, an organization which takes monthly polls of public opinion for the government and private corporations, Mr. Elliott said that business has found it profitable to use research. Pro-motional expenditure on research climbed from one-tenth of one per cent five years ago to one and a half per cent today, he said.

"An American research organization found that over a period of 10 years, business executive opinion was right 58 per cent of the time and wrong 42 per cent," Mr. Elliott said. "The function of marketing research is to step in and reduce that 42 per cent to as near zero as possible."

A Montreal florist who wanted to sell more flowers to more people, was enabled to increase his business by 12 per cent through research. Two girls spent two weeks going over the files of Montreal papers finding out the names of people who had been married and when, over a period of 15 years. A list of 4,500 names was gathered and indexed according to the days of the year, and on the anniversary of weddings the florist would telephone the husband and ask if he wished to send a bouquet, Mr. Elliott said.

Referring to newspaper research, the speaker told of the confiscation of the Ukrainian Farmer-Labor Temple in Toronto and said that at the time only 2 per cent of Toronto people heard of the temple.

"A move for restoration of the temple was made, backed by Sir Ellsworth Flavelle and the Toronto Star. People were using arguments advanced by the editorial writers of the Star and at the end of 10 months, I would say the issue would have gone 10 to 1 in favor of restoration," he commented.

"That brought to us the power of the press in moulding public opinion, the way they wish to

WHEN you want sound advice you go to a friend who has had experience with whatever is worrying you. When you have to have professional advice you buy the best you can afford. In the same way, because the life insurance companies are the guardians of the people's savings, they seek the best business brains in Canada.

Individual directors of life insurance companies often occupy similar positions in many other lines of business. This is because they are men who have proven their ability. It needs men of sound judgment and wide experience to determine safe procedure in matters vital to so many millions of people.

Life insurance is a business of many phases. It bridges a gap between your present earning power and your far distant needs—sometimes spanning over half a century.

It is essential to have life insurance companies directed by men of broad business experience.

Victoria Captains In On Kill of German Sub In Atlantic

OTTAWA—After a desperate effort to outwit its pursuers, a German submarine was finally forced to the surface and destroyed in a recent north Atlantic action by a group of Canadian escort warships assisted by a Royal Navy destroyer, it was announced today by Hon. Angus L. Macdonald, Minister of National Defence for Naval Services.

A number of prisoners were taken from the U-boat, in whose destruction H.M.C.S. Chilliwack, one of Canada's oldest corvettes, played a major role. Chilliwack's commanding officer is Lt.-Cmdr. Clifton R. (Tony) Coughlin, R.C.N.V.R., of Ottawa. The other Canadian ships involved in the action were the corvette Fennel, commanded by Lt.-Cmdr. William P. Moffat, R.C.N.V.R., of Montreal; the frigate St. Catharines, in which the senior officer of the escort, Cmdr. P. W. Burnett, R.N., of Barrow-on-Furness, England, was sailing; and the destroyers Gatineau, Lt.-Cmdr. H. V. W. Groos of Victoria, B.C., and Chaudiere, Lt.-Cmdr. Pat Nixon, R.C.N., of Victoria, B.C. The R.N. destroyer was Icarus, commanded by Cmdr. Richard Dyer, formerly of Vancouver, and now of Kent, England. (H.M.C.S. St. Catharines was constructed by Yarrows Ltd. and was commissioned at Esquimalt. Many Victorians sailed in her.)

The action began when Gatineau, about to leave the convoy because of distiller defect, obtained contact with an object which Lt.-Cmdr. Groos was confident was a U-boat.

"We thought the submarine was coming in to attack the convoy, so close did it come," he said. "St. Catharines, the senior ship, carried out a depth charge attack. Then Chilliwack joined in and I brought Gatineau in and dropped a heavy charge."

A WILY BIRD

"The U-boat captain was a wily bird and tried to confuse us by his underwater tactics, but we stayed right with him. Unfortunately Gatineau wasn't in at the kill. The distiller defect forced us to leave the scene before the U-boat surfaced, I believe that as we picked him up he fired a torpedo at us, because we saw the wake of one come very close."

Chilliwack, Fennel and St. Catharines, stayed right on throughout the action, almost from the moment of first contact until the submarine finally broke surface. When it did appear

Chilliwack spotted it first. "I was standing on the bridge chatting with Lieut. Tim Dunn, my first lieutenant," said Lt. Cdr. Coughlin, commanding officer of the Chilliwack. "I was sure that we had the U-boat trapped. Just then Lieut. Dunn shouted 'Here he comes.' The submarine was dead ahead and we closed at full speed."

"As the U-boat was sighted I yelled to someone to man one of the bridge Oerlikons. Signalman Jack Starr of Winnipeg grabbed it and gave the Germans a hot time of it. He was a ball of fire all the way through."

"At first I intended to ram, but as we went in I altered course and passed directly under the U-boat's stern. Then I brought Chilliwack around to starboard to allow all the guns to bear. We were maintaining terrific fire, and all the other ships were joining in. The U-boat crew did not have a chance to man their guns. The first salvo from our four-inch gun wiped a twin mounting right off the conning tower and killed the U-boat captain who was first to emerge from the hatch. The conning tower itself soon looked like a sieve so many shells hit it. The Nazis then started to abandon the sub."

DIDN'T LIKE IT

Asked how close he approached to the U-boat, Lt.-Cmdr. Coughlin said: "We were as close as we could possibly get, and all our guns were blazing away. Our bow almost touched the U-boat's side on one occasion. You could see the terrified expressions on the Nazis' faces. They did not like it one bit, and I could hardly blame them. They were lucky to be alive at all. The prisoners we picked up soon recovered. They were fit and hard."

Summing up the action, Lt.-Cmdr. Coughlin said: "Chilliwack was first to see the U-boat and first to open fire and score a hit. All our ships were in there pitching, and doing a fair amount of hitting when their turn came to bat."

He was loud in his praise of Cmdr. Burnett, whose display of tactics won the plaudits of all commanding officers in the group. "He manoeuvred the ships as if they were mechanical soldiers and had the U-boat in the middle all the way," he said. "He's one of the finest officers you would want to work with, and we are all proud to have served under him."

Lt.-Cmdr. Moffat, commanding officer of Fennel, declared: "We needed patience to stay around, and when the sub finally came to the surface Chilliwack was in the best position to grapple with it. We dropped lots of depth charges, and I am sure we shook him up plenty. We were also able to pump some four-inch and Oerlikon stuff at him."

"It was a great piece of teamwork and a fine triumph for the Canadians, of whose group I

AND NAZI

Lt.-Cmdr. Nixon said Chaudiere "happened to be there" when the U-boat was forced to surface. "We all let him have it," he said. "It was a spectacular show. We added a couple of depth charge patterns to the already heavy load dropped on the submarine. The rescue work was a bit tricky, the weather having spoiled up during the afternoon. have the honor to be senior officer," said Cmdr. Burnett. "As senior officer I was sailing in St. Catharines, the new commanding officer, Lt.-Cmdr. A. F. Pickard, D.S.C., not having had time to report by the time we sailed with the convoy. The first lieutenant, Lieut. W. W. Spicer of Regina, carried out the duties of commanding officer in a most efficient manner. The patience displayed brought its reward. I only hope that we can go out and do the same thing again."

rines all lost whalers, so we lowered our motorboat and whaler, and between them they managed to pick up all the crews, as well as Nazis, 13 of whom were clinging to, or sitting, in a pontoon."

Asked what happened to the convoy, Lt.-Cmdr. Nixon declared laconically: "Nothing, exactly nothing. We brought it to the United Kingdom without a scratch, and it was a big one, too."

Turns Down $25,000 Bid for Shepperton

TORONTO (CP)—Fred Schelke, Toronto racing man, has refused an offer of $25,000 for Shepperton, outstanding Canadian thoroughbred, it was made known last night. The offer for the five-year-old son of Sun Craig and Chatwater came from a New York racing stable with Nick Hlynsky of the C. T. Leavitt stable acting as intermediary. It was not known what New York stable was involved although rumor at Woodbine Park in Toronto linked it with the name of Mrs. G. Poulson, owner of Broadcloth, which finished second in this year's Kentucky Derby.

Schelke, who combined to return a daily double of $35.60. Antena and Valinda Jill came first and second, respectively, in the seventh for a quinella payoff of $38.40.

Fastballers Draw Crowd

Tiremen-Flyers Win

Before the best crowd of the season, the fastball league staged its initial senior men's double-header, at Athletic Park, last evening, resulting in two fast and well-played games.

In the opener, Douglas Tire took the measure of the Army, after going out in front, with three runs in the first inning by a score of 5 to 2.

Leong, local Chinese boy, did the throwing for Douglas Tire, striking out seven, walking one and allowing six hits. Harry Holness had a good night at bat for the Army with two hits and a walk. He also supplied the fielding gem when he pulled off a perfect running apron catch of Stanchem's high foul fly into left field. Tires were charged with one error, and Army two.

In the second contest, R.C.A.F. nosed out the Navy after the sailors had pulled up to within one run in the last frame, by 4 to 3.

Crymble performed in the box for the Flyers. He struck out four, walked two, and gave up seven hits. Dunk and Ross divided the chucking chores for the sailors. Dunk worked for five hits, striking out none, walking three and having four hits charged against him. Ross, after considerable debate regarding the legality of his delivery, struck out two; walked two and gave away two hit. Flyers committed three errors and Navy two.

FLYERS LEAD

Air Force grabbed a 1 to 0 lead in the first on Greenburg's walk, and Neany's single. They bumped it up two more in the third on a walk, a bad throw by Hussey, and a hit by Greenburg. Navy cut the lead with a lone run in the fifth. Patterson walked, Jackson was safe on Neany's error, and Patterson came home on a fielder's choice. The airmen brought their total to four in the seventh, with two walks, a single by Hoag, and a passed ball.

Rockford opened Navy's last innings rally, reaching first on a bunt, taking second on a passed ball. Patterson was out on a nifty catch by Marcotte. Jackson belted a long drive into right field for a homer, bring in Rockford, and closing Flyer's lead to one run. Hussey was out at first, and Tovey ended the innings, and game, by putting one in the basket for Neany to gather safely in left field.

Short scores follow:

Douglas Tire	R. H. E.
Army	5 7 1
Batteries: Leong and Anderson; Martin and Brodus.
R.C.A.F.	4 5 2
Navy	3 7 3
Batteries: Crymble and Greenberg; Dunk, Ross and Jackson.

Opening games in the women's section saw the C.W.A.C. defeat the Units 13 to 9 and the Victoria Box and Paper win from the R.C.A.F. (W.D.) 6 to 3.

In a junior league game the Hustlers won from the Bombers, 9 to 5.

TRACK MEET

An invitation track and field meet will be held at Brentwood tomorrow afternoon with the Royal Canadian Naval College clashing with Brentwood College. The first event will start at 2.30.

Island Seniors' Golf Group Formed: Tournament Carded

Organization of a Vancouver Island Seniors' Golf Association took place recently at a meeting held at the Uplands Club. Fred Smith was named first president of the new group with Canon Ryall, secretary, and Frank Thomas, chairman of the match committee.

It was decided to hold the first tournament in July with a two-day medal round. The first 18 holes will be played July 10 at the Victoria Club and the second on July 11 at the Uplands. The final round at Uplands will be followed by a putting competition and dinner. Election of officers will take place.

To the tournament champion will go the Hon. John Hart trophy with the runner-up to receive the W. J. Wilson trophy. Lieutenant-Governor Woodward and Premier Hart along with other prominent businessmen are patrons of the association.

The tournament will be open to all golfers over 50 years of age and it is expected to attract a large entry from up-island points. A golfer does not have to belong to a club to play. Only stipulation is that an entrant must have a recognized handicap.

Oak Bay and Uplands Clubs have donated their courses for the two-day competition.

Navy Battle Army Ball Club Tonight

Navy and Army baseball teams will hook up for the second time this season at the Athletic Park tonight, starting at 6.30.

In the first meeting between the clubs the Navy marked up a 4 to 2 triumph. Blue-jackets enter the game tonight with an undefeated record, while the troops have won one game in four.

Last time out the Army showed a lot of batting power to defeat the R.C.A.F.

Navy need a win tonight to keep pace with the V.M.D., leading the league with three successive victories.

School Teams Tie In Soccer Final

Victoria and Oak Bay High Schools' soccer teams played to a 1 to 1 overtime draw in the Colonist Cup final played yesterday afternoon at Heywood Avenue, and as a result will each hold the coveted trophy for a six months' period.

Oak Bay set up a 1 to 0 lead on a first-half goal by Russell Latham, and held this slim advantage until 15 minutes before the end of the match, when Ronnie Webster fired home the equalizer.

Victoria High School was defending the trophy.

WIN MIXED FOURSOMES

In the twoball mixed foursomes played at the Uplands Golf Club Mrs. S. D. Horsford and E. E. Peden were the winners with a score of 78-12-66, with Mrs. E. H. Livingstone and Fred Smith runner-up with 88-16-71½.

Ranger Show Presents

Keen Fights Here Saturday

Some of the best fights seen in a local ring should be offered Victoria sports fans Saturday night as the Ranger Show presents service champions in a program of 10 bouts varied by novelty dance and roller skating numbers at the Armories.

The fighters have been working out regularly at the Work Point gym and are reported in top condition for the event.

Ron Whalley, fresh from his Canadian Army light heavyweight championship triumph in Ottawa, will move against the R.C.A.F. in the main event, in which he meets Hank Egli, Golden Gloves titleholder and interservice champion.

Two other outstanding Canadian lightweights, the army's Powell and the R.C.A.F.'s Le Pitre, will battle in the semi-windup. Both boys have impressive knockout records and are crowd pleasers.

Victoria followers will be particularly interested in the Bobby Parker-Jackie Turner all-army special event. Parker, tops among the smaller men in western Canada and finalist in the army title tourney, will be meeting a smart boxer in the Vancouver star.

Detroit Beats Yanks Twice

Browns Half Came Back

Baseball passed the quarter pole today in stable condition with 160,020 holiday admissions in the cash-box and the New York Yankees and St. Louis Cardinals still the teams to beat.

Cincinnati and St. Louis Browns loomed as the leading contenders following yesterday's flood of doubleheaders featured by 23 home runs. The Reds trailed Billy Southworth's Cards by 2½ games in the National League and the Browns closed to within a half game of the Yankees in the American League.

Master Melvin Ott of the New York Giants led the home-run parade with three, upping his total to 10, as New York trimmed Chicago twice, 6 to 5 and 5 to 4.

Whitey Kurowski belted his seventh and eighth round trippers as the Cards rallied to whip Boston in the second game 13 to 3 after howling to Nate Andrews in the first, 1 to 0, on Tommy Holmes' homer.

Wes Flowers and Hal Gregg got credit for Brooklyn's double victory over Pittsburgh, 9 to 3 and 4 to 3, but Leo Durocher had to call on the bull pen for help in both games.

REDS REGAIN SECOND

Cincinnati regained second place ahead of the Pirates by dumping the Phils in both games, 4 to 3 and 7 to 4. Ed Heusser whiffed Ron Northey with the bases full to save the opener for Arnold Carter and Frank McCormick unloaded four hits, including a homer and double, to drive in four runs in the second.

Paul (Dizzy) Trout added insult to injury by hitting a home run in the ninth inning on top of a seven-hit pitching job for a 2 to 1 edge over New York, and Hal Newhouse completed Detroit's banner home day of the season before the day's largest crowd, 37,685, by matching the seven-hitter for a 4 to 1 nod.

Luke Sewell's Browns were out-hit in both numbers by Washington but made them count for

Canadian Sport Snapshots

By SYD THOMAS

TORONTO (CP)—While it certainly hasn't looked like football weather lately, nevertheless the game's stalwarts out west are talking pigskin-pushing already. Alvin Horace Ritchie is reported to be busy reading the Regina Roughriders for their autumn chugers come autumn, and he is casting anxious eyes at Winnipeg to see what opposition the Blue Bombers may be able to throw at him.

He doesn't have to look very hard, according to Herb (Winnipeg Tribune) Manning, who says things just aren't so hot in the 'Peg's football world. About the only major ball they'll have will be of high school variety, he says moodily.

While on the subject of high school football, Herb says "Hard-rock" Gregory Kaba is mightily provoked over reports Winnipeg and Toronto schools will stage a "Canadian championship" match. Kaba, ex-Blue Bomber now actively engaged in building school football into big-time proportions in Vancouver, says that any such playoff without Vancouver would be merely a farce.

The Calgary Herald's form chart expert for prairie horse racing, Lou Davies, is a good man to know when you're betting on the races. During the 10-day spring meeting in Calgary Lou picked 26 winners out of a possible 70, rolling up an imposing average of 37 per cent on the correct side of the ledger. Picking the place and show horses he was right 48 per cent of the time. Either the nags read his selections and abided by them or else Lou is psychic or something.

INCIDENTALLY

Tommy White has found the perfect answer to what to do on a soldier's furlough—he goes out and pitches no-hit ball games. White played with London (Ont.) army last season, but now is stationed at Chatham, Ont. So came his furlough, this year he ambled back to London to help out his old teammates against Stratford.

A dean got mixed up with the other dears during a high school girls' softball game in Marmora, Ont. A spry doc came loping down to the scene of action, looked around and then loped off, showing nice base-running form, it's reported. . . . On the no-hit ball question again, Edmonton fans were treated to a classic doubleheader recently as part of the season's football offerings. One hurler, Mike Milner of the U.S. army air force officers' team, marked up his second hitless game in a row.

Boxla Teams Play Draw in Opener

Ushering in the box lacrosse season at Stevenson Park Tuesday night, Murdies and James Bay juvenile clubs battled to a 7 to 7 deadlock.

After gaining a 5 to 2 lead at half-time the Bays were unable to hold their opponents off in the final two quarters and a tie game was the result. Overtime was played.

Monahan paced Murdies with three goals, followed by Tooby with two, while Clark and Thompson scored singles. Langdon fired home a trio of counters for the Bays with Murdoch, Green, Stewart and Stinson scoring one apiece.

By PETE SALLAWAY

DESPITE THE FACT his New York Rangers last winter experienced their worst season since entering the National Hockey League, manager Lester Patrick had less worries. Chatting to the vice-president of Madison Square Garden, back home for a three months vacation, he explained it this way. "The fans are not critical and, through the splendid co-operation we received from the sports writers, were fully informed of the impossible situation our club faced in attempting to replace the star players lost to the armed forces," Lester said. "As you know the Rangers were the hardest hit of all the clubs in the league and you just couldn't find replacements. I combed the minor-leagues but the material was just not available."

PATRICK described conditions in New York as perfect for sport promotion. "People have lots of money and will turn out for any kind of attraction. Just imagine a fight in Gotham between two Negroes such as the Bob Montgomery and Beau Jack affair. In ordinary times it would have been necessary to match either boy with a Jewish or Irish lad to have attracted the customers. Now you can understand why the Garden has experienced its greatest financial year in history."

CALUMET FARM bagging $160,000 in eight days is the greatest money-winning feat in the long history of racing. Pensive took the Kentucky Derby and the Preakness; Sun Again the Dixie Handicap and Twilight Tear the Pimlico Oaks. With the season just getting under way, Warren Wright's red and blue colors have accounted for $250,000, more than half its own earning record of $475,091, established when trainer Ben Jones put the one-eyed blinker on Whirlaway in 1941. Calumet will have to bump into a tremendous lot of trouble not to up the high water mark.

THE DWYER brothers were terrific around the turn of the century with Bramble, Luke Blackburn, Hindoo, Miss Woodford and some more. James H. Keene came along to be a rival. Sam C. Hildreth didn't do so badly on his own, and when he hooked up with Harry F. Sinclair the Rancocas Stable came closer than any other to sweeping the more important numbers. In 1923, for example, the white-headed Zev and others earned $438,849, which was the maximum until Whirlaway started running straight for Ben Jones, Harry Payne and Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney had memorable runs. Brookmeade cleaned up with Cavalcade, High Quest and additional high-rollers in 1934. Young Alfred Vanderbilt had his fill as Discovery got around the country in '35, and you know the story of Charles S. Howard, Seabiscuit, Kayak II and Santa Anita.

NEVER has there been a string with a grip on the entire program, however, as tight as the one now held by fashionable Calumet. Off his performances in the Derby and the Preakness, handsome Pensive easily could have a leglock on the $50,000-added Belmont Stakes at a mile-and-a-half, June 3.

No handicap horse can be rated ahead of Sun Again and Mar-Kell as fine a racing mare as there is in the land. Rich three-year-old filly events seem at the mercy of Twilight Tear, which jockey Conn McCreary and others in position to judge rate superior to Pensive. And Miss Keeneland ranks right on Twilight Tear's heels.

FOLLOWING the running of the Belmont Stakes, trainer Jones will give much more attention to a beautifully-bred group of two-year-olds. It is no secret that he believes he has highly promising youngsters in Full Stride, Hall Victory, No Blues, Coast-A-Bit, Battle Fire and Chesty, to name a half dozen.

After taking a whack at the many important stakes at Belmont, the Calumet parade of champions will go to Chicago's Arlington-Washington Park show to cut in on a series of the richest stake events ever staged at one continuous meeting.

Seattle Rainiers Out In Front

Beat Portland Twice

Seattle Rainiers replaced the Portland Beavers at the top of the Coast League baseball standings by taking both ends of a Memorial Day doubleheader last night, 2 to 1 and 10 to 3.

A total of 13,311 paying customers jammed into the Seattle park for the twin bill which was played in reverse order with the short contest opening the program. The game went eight innings before the Rainiers could put across the deciding score. Manager Bill Skiff of Seattle was chased from the park in the opener after a heated argument with umpire Johnny Androvich. Four Portland pitchers failed to stop the Rainiers in the second game as they converted 12 hits into 10 runs; six of which came in the third inning.

Portland dropped into second place as Los Angeles won two from San Francisco before a crowd of 10,000 at Wrigley Field. The Seals were outplayed in the first, 5 to 1, but carried the nightcap into 11 innings before the Angels won, 5 to 4.

STARS WON PAIR

Hollywood climbed to within a half game of the third-place Seals by taking two from Oakland before a crowd of 8,000. The Stars scored all of their seven runs in the second inning to win the opener, 7 to 2. The second game was scoreless until the eighth when Tod Davis of Hollywood doubled, moved down to third on a sacrifice and scored on a long fly to right field for the 1 to 0 margin.

The San Diego Padres and Sacramento Solons split at San Diego before the smallest crowd of the day, only 3,617 attending. Sacramento won the first, 5 to 1, but the Padres took the final, 2 to 0, behind the three-hit pitching of Warren Merkle.

12 Police Officers Win Certificates

Twelve B.C. police constables who have concluded their training here in the 11th instructional class, today received their constables' certificates at a presentation ceremony at the B.C. Provincial Police training depot, Burdett Avenue.

The certificates were presented by Miss Nora Maitland, daughter of Attorney-General R. L. Maitland, who flew over from Vancouver with Mrs. Maitland for the ceremony.

The Attorney-General was introduced to the police officers by Commissioner T. W. S. Parsons. The three-months' training included instruction in all phases of police work from training and drill to shooting instruction and criminal investigations.

As guests of Attorney-General Maitland, William MacLaren, Seattle barrister, and Mrs. MacLaren attended.

Those receiving the certificates were: Constables E. J. Hooker and E. C. Dornay, Victoria; F. D. Avis, Nanaimo; M. H. McLeod and R. W. Strouts, Prince Rupert; H. C. Bonner, New Westminster; E. L. Rosberg, Dawson Creek; L. H. Jakeman, Prince George; H. E. Kilek, Burnaby; M. Stevens, North Vancouver; J. H. Callens, Kelowna, and W. D. Waddell, Penticton.

A grass fire which broke out at Beach Drive and Newport Avenue Tuesday kept Oak Bay firemen busy for 30 minutes.

R. W. Fairclough of Victoria will speak tonight at 7.30 over the Trans-Canada network of the CBC from the National Convention of Young Liberals at Winnipeg, on "Special Problems of Youth."

3-Day Staff College For Civil Defence Concludes Here

A three-day staff college attended by 50 civil defence heads on lower Vancouver Island will close today with discussions by Chief J. H. DeGraves of the Vancouver fire department, and Insp. S. F. M. Moodie, chief training officer for civil defence in Canada.

Chief DeGraves spoke on "Functioning of the Metropolitan Fire Department in a Major Emergency; Its Use of Auxiliaries and Suggestions for Mutual Fire Defence for a Region." The talk was followed by a demonstration.

Concluding address was by Insp. Moodie, who gave a paper on "Reinforcements and Mutual Aid in a Region."

The course here for island chief wardens and controllers was similar to one conducted recently in Vancouver for mainland civil defence chiefs.

Tuesday the wardens heard Maj. A. A. Ransom, R.C.A., who commanded an anti-aircraft battery on the south coast of England before returning to Canada. He told of the effects of high explosives and emphasized the importance of co-operation between civil defence and the army.

Maj. Ransom was followed by A. S. G. Musgrave, Oak Bay controller, who discussed engineering problems. Also giving addresses were Maj. H. C. Bray, intelligence officer for the Pacific Command, and Capt. E. D. W. Levison, Saanich controller.

The medical work of civil defence was described by Lt.-Col. P. A. H. King, R.C.A.M.C., chief examining officer at Little Mountain Camp, Vancouver. Col. King, a London physician at the outbreak of the war, served with the R.A.M.C. before joining the Canadian unit.

He told his experiences in London and Liverpool hospitals during the blitz, and described latest methods of casualty treatment.

The aim now, he said, is to give brief first aid treatment at the scene and then rush the casualty to hospital. Persons suffering from shock, he said, should always be regarded as in potential danger.

Representatives at the staff college included: Insp. A. H. Bishop of Victoria; Mr. Musgrave, Oak Bay; Capt. Levison, Saanich; H. W. V. Pecknold, Esquimalt; H. C. Palmer, View Royal; F. J. Baker, Sidney; D. J. DeRoche, Sooke; Harry G. Webber, Malahat.

Also attending were representatives of the city and municipal engineering and fire departments, a number of civil defence medical officers and Dr. G. A. B. Hall, chief surgeon for the St. John Ambulance in B.C.

Injured in Accident

Theodore Belcombe, 1003 Hillside Avenue, suffered bruises and shock when a car which he was driving was in collision with a streetcar operated by W. J. Purdy, 3125 Glasgow Avenue, at Langford and Catherine Streets. Belcombe was taken to his home by city police. The car was considerably damaged. P. Foley, 540 Johnson Street, and R. H. Tyndell, 620 Bay Street, were passengers in the car driven by Belcombe.

Sgmn. Laurence A. Hammick

had much the same experience, except that he was awake when the torpedo hit and had his clothes on, giving more time to reach deck through the galleys hatch and slip outside to pick up a Carley.

Hocking and Hammick, Victoria survivors of H.M.C.S. Valleyfield, recently sunk while on convoy duty in the North Atlantic, have arrived home on survivor's leave.

Hocking, 25, is the son of Mrs. Clara E. Hocking, and nephew of H. R. Fletcher, 1482 Dallas Road.

Hammick, 22, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Hammick, 767 Victoria Avenue.

With the sinking of the frigate Valleyfield—five dead, 121 missing, 38 survivors—Victoria boys were on the missing list.

They are Lieut. Stirling C. Mason, Lieut. (E) John E. Storey, L.S. Walter G. Randall, OS, James A. Cornwall, OS, William Davey and St. PO, R. A. Wilson.

MASCOT MISSED TRIP

"Irish," pet collie pup, and mascot of the Valleyfield, lives to follow the routine of all dogs because of distemper.

"Irish," who belongs to Bill Hocking, picked up distemper just before the Valleyfield sailed, and was left behind in veterinary hospital for treatment. It was a good break for "Irish," as it happened. Bill is now wondering how long it will be before he sees his dog again.

Ontario Halving Liquor Ration

Ontario's liquor ration will be slashed in half, starting Thursday, while B.C.'s June quota will remain the same as in May.

W. F. Kennedy, liquor commissioner, reported the B.C. beer situation showed no sign of easing. He expected no increase in July and said manufacturers had informed him the scarcity of malt would continue until fall.

In Toronto Victor T. Goggin, chief commissioner for Ontario, announced today that the present 26-ounce-a-month liquor ration in Ontario would be reduced to one 25-ounce or one 26-ounce bottle every two months, or two half-bottles when available.

The Ontario announcement said the new ration would be effective until the end of the board's operating year — next March 31.

Mr. Goggin said the board had no discretionary power in the matter because of federal government liquor restrictions.

1,000,000 PERMITS

It was reported that the chief factor in the reduction in Ontario, is an increase in liquor permit sales coupled with dwindling liquor supplies. Since the

"The explosion was terrific," said Hocking. "It appeared to be forward. I believe she was cut in two."

ONE MINUTE AFLOAT

"I didn't waste any time getting topside," he said. "I was in my shorts, so I pulled a zoot suit over my shoulders, leaving my arms free to swim, without zipping it up. A zoot suit is a padded coverall, designed for warmth. By the time I reached deck the ship was well down by the head, seemed as if her back was broken. I don't think she remained afloat more than a minute."

Hocking found the water icy cold, struck out for a Carley float.

"On it with me were about a dozen men," he said. "I guess we were floating around for about an hour when we were picked up."

L.SIGMN. BILL HOCKING

by the corvette Edmunston, and then transferred to the Giffard, commanded by Lt.-Cmdr. Charles Petersen of Victoria. St. Bob Coleman, a Victoria boy, was one of the Giffard's boat crew which rowed itself to exhaustion in rescuing Valleyfield survivors.

PAIS NOW

What navy boys think of when they are adrift on the ocean aboard rafts, was indicated by Hocking under questioning.

"All the fellows with me thought about for the moment was the lot of rum they would get to warm them up when they were picked up," he said.

Both Hocking and Hammick want to go back to sea, expressing a preference for it to shore thing-is-happening-all-the-time.

Hammick was asked if he and Hocking were pals. Significantly he replied: "We are now."

pew permits came into use two months ago sales have reached nearly 1,000,000, it was said, compared with a total of about 1,250,000 during the 12-month period ended last March 31. Officials estimate that if the rate of sale continues the total for this year will reach 2,000,000 and if this occurs the demand for liquor would far exceed the available supply.

The 26-ounce ration has been effective since the first of the year.

Liquor was first rationed in Ontario Jan. 4, 1943, when the quota was set at 160 ounces a month. May 1, 1943, it was reduced to 80 ounces, last June to 53 ounces and last Sept. 1 to 40 ounces.

Bishop at Banquet

Bishop Paul Yu-pin, Vicar Apostolic of Nanking, China, was entertained at a banquet at St. Joseph's Hospital by the Sisters of St. Ann while visiting Victoria.

Bishop Yu-pin spoke of a five-point plan for modernizing China. That great country was ready for Christianity, and was developing fast, he said.

Bishop Yu-pin was entertained by the Chinese colony and was greeted by representatives of the various Chinese societies in the city. He referred to their fine contribution to the war effort and urged them to continue.

Ted Blenkinsop Missing Overseas

Sqdn. Ldr. Edward Weyman (Ted) Blenkinsop, D.F.C., R.C. A.F., son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert W. Blenkinsop, 1076 Joan Crescent, is the latest Victorian to be listed as missing in air operations over enemy territory.

It was only recently that Sqdn. Ldr. Blenkinsop had the Distinguished Flying Cross conferred on him for valor while serving overseas.

Blenkinsop joined the R.C.A.F. in June, 1940, passed through elementary training school at Sea Island, Vancouver, gained his wings with distinguished pass at 4 S.F.T.S., Saskatoon, in December, 1940, received his commission in January, 1941, was promoted to squadron leader in November, 1943.

In April, 1942, he was loaned to the New Zealand government as navigation instructor. Later he was based in North Africa piloting a Wellington, then served as a flight commander with the famed "Alouette" Squadron blasting the enemy over Europe.

Oak Bay Firemen Get Wage Increase

A 6 per cent salary increase, retroactive to Jan. 1, was awarded to Oak Bay firemen at the conclusion of negotiations between the firemen and Oak Bay council, it was learned at a meeting of the council Tuesday night.

A report was received from Barrie Gault, Department of Labor official, giving details of the negotiations between the council and firemen which Mr. Gault handled.

R. F. Blandy, clerk of the municipality, stated army buildings at the Willows were apparently not to be used for the suggested purpose of housing families, and information from the council's solicitor on the proposal was filed.

First reading was given to two by-laws providing for the sale of tax-sale lots.

W. D. Andrews sent in an offer of $275 for a lot on Dunlevy Street. It was referred to the lands committee.

Permission was granted for the consolidation of two parcels of land on Ansonby Place. Permission was also granted for the erection of an $8,600 home in the Uplands, and for the subdivision of two lots in the Uplands.

A letter from the Naval Department stating Esquimalt was to be maintained as a naval base but Vancouver would remain as Pacific coast naval headquarters was received and filed.

The council tabled for discussion in committee a request by Saanich council for agreement by the Oak Bay fire department to stand by if the Saanich department should be called to deal with a fire outside its own municipality.

Permission to hold a tag day on June 24 was granted to the Canadian Aid to Russia Fund. Permission was also given to Wild West Shows Ltd., to hold Councillor P. A. Moir was re-appointed as the council's representative to Royal Jubilee Hospital's board.

Victoria City Council's plea that war materials and property be made available to provincial and municipal governments before being disposed of privately will be put before Crown Assets Allocation Committee, R. W. Mayhew, M.P., informed the council today.

Old age pensioners have many friends in all parties at Ottawa, R. W. Mayhew, M.P., says in a letter in reply to George A. Dyson, executive council representative of the Old Age Pensioners' Association of B.C. "There is quite a different atmosphere here now to what there was four or five years ago. Today nearly everyone is prepared to support a reasonable change in pensions for the aged. I hope they are not long delayed," Mr. Mayhew wrote.

Disney Feature Folk Here From Hollywood Thursday

Thousands of Victorians will see Adriana Caselotti and Pinto Colvig Thursday. Owners of the original voices of Walt Disney's "Snow White" and "Grumpy," they are coming in connection with the contest sponsored by the Capitol Theatre to find the Canadian Snow White. Adriana is described as "a 106-pound combination of singing talent and acting ability" and Pinto, known as the "man of many voices." They will arrive by night boat and make their appearance here before 1,000 students at Victoria High School at 11.30. At 12 they will go to the Rotary Club luncheon. Their next visit will be at Victoria Military Hospital where they will entertain patients starting at 2. At 3.15 they will return to Victoria High School for a performance before another 1,000 school children in the auditorium. They will go to Macaulay Hut at 6 to entertain troops stationed in the area. Adriana and Pinto will be heard over radio station CJVI in a half-hour program beginning at 7. Their appearance on the stage of the Capitol Theatre will be at 8.30. Victoria's Snow White contest will be staged at the Capitol Theatre, June 9. J. M. Robertson, manager, said that entrants may secure their forms at the theatre box office as soon as possible and also suggests those taking part leave a press print of a recent photograph with their completed entries.

Valera's Party Firmly in Lead As Votes Counted

DUBLIN (CP)—Prime Minister Eamon de Valera's Fianna Fail party, seeking a fresh mandate from the Eire electorate, took an early lead today as counting of ballots in Tuesday's general election proceeded. Twelve Fianna Fail members have been elected while two members of Gen. Richard Mulcahy's Fine Gael party, the principal opposition group, have been returned along with two independents. While counting of ballots began today, the outcome of the election, second within a year in neutral Eire, will not be known until Friday or Saturday as Eire follows the proportional representation system of voting. After a number of retakes, Millard quipped, "Can't somebody think up a ghost that takes the elevator?"

Nazis Try to Upset Russ Preparations

LONDON (CP)—German forces have broken the six-week lull in land fighting on the eastern front by making a small dent in Russian lines north of Iasi in Rumania, a Moscow communique said today. A dispatch from Eddy Gilmore, Associated Press staff writer in Moscow, said the German attacks appeared to be an attempt to upset troop concentrations rather than the beginning of a real enemy offensive. Iasi is about 180 miles north-east of the Ploesti oil fields. The Germans have claimed the Red Army was massing its forces for a drive on that source of fuel supply. At first the professor, his household and his fiancée, make the mistake of considering the boy just a rather quaint and astonishing child, but they soon realize that his training aboard has taught him to be a liar and schemer whose treachery goes far beyond anything they had ever experienced. It is good theatre, full of entertainment, thrills and comedy.

B.C. Flier Honored

VANCOUVER (CP)—Col. and Mrs. Lennox Arthur have received word that their son, Sqdn. Ldr. C. I. R. Arthur of the R.A.F., was awarded from the central Mediterranean area that the award was "immediate," but did not say why it was awarded.

NOTICE

The public is hereby warned that, until further notice, BOMBING practices are liable to take place daily (Sundays included) in Saanich Inlet, B.C. The areas described hereunder are restricted as Royal Canadian Air Force range danger areas when bombing practices are in progress.

DANGER AREA "A"
Situating north of Thomson Cove, this danger area is described as a circle of one hundred and fifty (150) yards radius with centre at a floating target positioned approximately four hundred (400) yards, 345 degrees, from Henderson Point S. Latitude N. 48 degrees 36' 00", Longitude W. 123 degrees 25' 51".

DANGER AREA "B"
Situating on the west side of Saanich Inlet between Hatch Point and McPhail Point, this danger area is bounded by a line commencing at a point approximately 15 mi. 047 degrees true, from Hatch Point in Latitude N. 48 degrees 41' 42", Longitude W. 123 degrees 31' 30", and extending four-tenths (4/10) miles, 038 degrees; thence four-tenths (4/10) miles, 088 degrees 30'; thence four-tenths (4/10) miles, 127 degrees; thence four and thirty-five hundredths (4 35/100) miles, 172 degrees 15'; thence four-tenths (4/10) miles, 215 degrees; thence four-tenths (4/10) miles, 263 degrees 30'; thence four-tenths (4/10) miles, 308 degrees; thence four and thirty-five hundredths (4 35/100) miles, 352 degrees 15' to the point of beginning.

When danger area "A" is in use, a large red flag will be flown at a point on shore adjacent to the danger area. When danger area "B" is in use, a target boat will operate up and down the centre of the danger area. This boat will fly a large red flag at the head-end.

By Order,
Charles G. Power, P.C. M.C. K.C., Minister of National Defence for Air,
Ottawa, Ontario, 26th May, 1944.

Steinbeck Drama Opens Here Friday

Acclaimed the most suspenseful drama ever made, the entire action taking place in a lifeboat whose passengers are survivors of a U-boat torpedoing and the commander of the enemy submarine, Alfred Hitchcock's production of "Lifeboat," by John Steinbeck, is scheduled to open Friday at the Dominion Theatre. "Lifeboat" was made with the co-operation of the U.S. Navy and merchant marine; the latter loaned the studio a 26-foot steel lifeboat which could not be bought at any price. The film stars Tallulah Bankhead with featured players William Bendix, Walter Slezak, Mary Anderson, John Hodiak, Henry Hull, Heather Angel, Hume Cronyn and Canada Lee.

Atlas On Thursday To Show 'Uninvited'

A staircase can suddenly take on frightening proportions as demonstrated in Paramount's "The Uninvited," arriving Thursday at the Atlas Theatre. The story deals in ghosts, spirits and a haunted house, with Ray Milland, Ruth Hussey and Donald Crisp in starring roles. In staircase scene Ray is required to descend 35 steps, but it took two days of rehearsing before Director Lewis Allen got the proper effect. On the screen, the sequence takes less than a minute. It seems that no one on the set could tell Ray how to feel when confronted by two ghosts on the staircase. After a number of retakes, Millard quipped, "Can't somebody think up a ghost that takes the elevator?"

'World of Tomorrow' Coming to Royal

"Tomorrow the World," featuring Paul McGrath, Edith Atwater and the wonder kids of the stage, Dickie Tyler and Joan Shepard, comes to the Royal Theatre for two nights, Friday and Saturday, June 9 and 10, following six months at the Selwyn Theatre, Chicago. It is still playing at the Barrymore Theatre, New York, where it has run for over a year.

Is Life Insurance a Good Investment?

If you are thinking of your savings, you must ask yourself where you can invest your funds safely and profitably so that they will be returned to you thirty, forty or fifty years hence. The best way to gauge the outlook for insurance in years to come is to look at its record in the past.

in 1914

At the outbreak of the Great War, the price of most securities tumbled. But the guaranteed values of Great-West Life policies did not drop one cent.

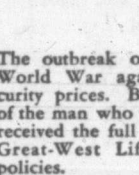

in 1921

The post-war depression knocked the bottom out of security prices. But beneficiaries or policyholders in retirement receiving guaranteed incomes from the Great-West Life, were regularly paid in full just as if there had been no depression.

in 1933

In 1933 the man who owned real estate or a share in any business, could have obtained only a fraction of 1929 prices. But the guaranteed value of his Great-West Life policies did not change.

in 1939

The outbreak of the second World War again upset security prices. But the family of the man who died in 1939 received the full face value of Great-West Life insurance policies.

Through many wars and depressions, life insurance has proved itself to be the investment on which the average man can rely. Whatever happens, it is in your interest to keep your Great-West Life policies in force. They will never let you or your family down.

Canadians Battle To Block German Liri Escape Roads

By DOUG HOW
WITH THE CANADIAN CORPS IN ITALY (AP) — Through country covered with thick foliage and high grain which aided an enemy fighting a long-range, harsh rearguard action, Canadian infantry and armor pressed on towards Frosinone, junction of two highways along which the Germans can retreat from the Liri valley.

The Germans continued to use severe artillery and mortar fire and mines, and occasionally machine guns to delay the advance that was further stemmed by a number of small streams, each of which had to be bridged by the engineers.

Tuesday night the Canadians were moving ahead slowly and steadily against an enemy who was obstructing them in every way possible short of man-to-man combat.

SACRIFICE POOR ONES

The Canadians reported prisoners of low physical calibre were being sacrificed by the enemy to cover his retreat.

Heavy shells and mortar fire harassed Ontario and Maritime infantry units which have had little sleep in the past six days, since the exploitation of the Hitler line bridgehead began.

A number of heavy guns located behind Frosinone were attacked by divebombers, which were again used to advantage on roads employed by the Germans for withdrawal. At least two guns were reported knocked out and a heavy toll was taken of vehicles.

Ontario infantrymen entered Frosinone Monday night under artillery, mortar and machine gun fire, and took six prisoners. They are part of a force including artillery and Ontario reconnaissance troops which protected the right flank.

LED BY MONTREALER

This is the latest job of the "recon" squadron commanded by Maj. A. A. Hugman of Montreal and including Capt. J. F. Baker of Toronto and J. D. Crashley of Oakville, Ont., which is part of a regiment fighting for the first time and going steadily for six days.

Its tasks have included spotting enemy guns, capturing prisoners, and knocking out enemy gunposts. As the crow flies the Canadians have advanced more than 12 miles from the Hitler Line, but over dust-choked, winding roads it is more like 30.

To their credit they have at least 30 tanks, many prisoners and a number of guns knocked out.

Evaporated Milk On New Coupons

OTTAWA (CP)—Priority sales of evaporated milk by coupon must continue in restricted areas—those districts in which supplies of fresh milk are adequate to meet all necessary needs—the Prices Board said in announcing the discontinuance of the use of coupons in other than restricted areas after June 1.

The board said most areas of Ontario and Quebec, except the northern portions, are classified as restricted areas, together with the larger towns and cities of the four western provinces.

At the beginning of May the board announced a new type of evaporated milk coupon to replace G coupon. On and after June 1 all G coupons in the hands of consumers will be invalid.

Before further purchases can be made in restricted areas a consumer possessing an evaporated milk card with G coupons attached must exchange it at his local ration board office for a card of the new evaporated milk coupons.

The priority users entitled to coupons in restricted areas are infants and invalids. Object of the order, the board said, is to ensure that infants and invalids in restricted areas obtain necessary supplies, and that other areas where fresh milk is scarce or unavailable have adequate stocks of tinned milk to meet requirements.

Prime Minister Sends Congratulations

Audrey Alexandra Brown, Victoria writer, who last week received word she has been awarded the Lorne Pierce medal for her works, today received the following telegram from Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King. "Please accept my warmest congratulations upon being awarded the Lorne Pierce Medal by the Royal Society of Canada, a recognition truly merited of your splendid contributions to Canadian Literature."

The Prime Minister last year in one of his war speeches quoted from Miss Brown's poems.

Industry Output In France Halved Since Nazis Came

ZURICH, Switzerland (ONA Cable) — French industrial production has been nearly halved since 1938, according to the first apparently authentic statistics published inside France since the German occupation.

In a report published by a scientific journal to the evident embarrassment of the German authorities, two noted French economists estimated that production at the end of 1943 was only 55 per cent of that five years ago.

It is noteworthy that while the total production figure went down, the output of raw materials such as coal, iron ore, lead and bauxite rose above the 1938 figure. Although the economists did not, of course, mention it in their report, these items are essential to the German war effort.

The authors of the article are Professors Laufenberger and Sirol, respectively of the universities of Paris and Toulouse. Their report was published by the monthly periodical "Revue de l'Economie Contemporaine" (Contemporary Economics Review), which appears under the protection of the Vichy Minister of Industrial Production, Jean Bichelonne.

That the German authorities found publication of the article embarrassing is indicated by the fact that they have tried to counteract its effect by publishing attacks on it.

One such attack attempted to ridicule the figures by saying that even German statistical bureaus were not in a position to compile statistics on the subject and that the real figures were unknown. In the same breath, it was admitted that the decline in French production was alarming, but this could be attributed to the Allied blockade rather than the German occupation.

Meanwhile, collaborationist circles have published an entirely different report on the French industrial situation. Issued by the Association for Economic and Social Publications, which is an arm of the French Association of Manufacturers, this report presents a highly-favorable picture of the French economic position.

The report, by an unnamed author, praises rationalization of French war industries under German leadership and speaks glowingly of the increased profits resulting for French industrialists. But even this report admits that production of consumer goods is on an extremely low level.

Buy More War Savings Stamps

I had a nightmare...

I dreamed that I paid $5.00 for a haircut and $50.00 for a pair of cardboard shoes. I dreamed that we had no wartime controls on prices, profits or wages, and that we hadn't had the sense to organize the distribution of supplies all the way down the line...

I dreamed that because everyone was making more money and spending it, prices were sky-rocketing.

all the stores looked like "fire" sales... with people scrambling to buy before prices went still higher...

panicky people were buying things they didn't need, and hoarding everything they could get their hands on...

I dreamed that everybody had to fight to get more money... and that in this mad race, wages and salaries were falling behind.

I dreamed the hand of everyone was against his neighbour, with each of us blaming the other fellow for his troubles.

with everybody for himself... no matter what it cost in the long run... and no matter how it hurt the war effort.

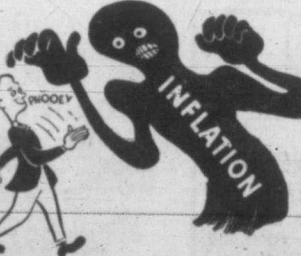

THEN...THANK GOODNESS - I WOKE UP!

to realize with relief that I live in a country where things are sane and stable... where the cost of living has been kept within bounds.

to realize that prices and wages—production costs and selling prices—are inseparably linked together.

to realize that without the safeguards that have headed off inflation, my nightmare might have become a reality!

to remind myself that the danger is still pressing and that we must continue to hold firm... and that means everybody must play fair and do his part by not trying to get some temporary, fancied advantage at the expense of his fellow-Canadians.

This advertisement is the seventh of a series being issued by the Government of Canada to emphasize the importance of preventing further increases in the cost of living now and deflation later.
